AZZURRI NIGHTMARE: ITALY MISS THE BUS FOR QATAR

European champions lose 0-1 to lowly North Macedonia in play-off semifinal for 2022 FIFA World Cup

AFTER EURO SUCCESS, A HORROR STORY

Even though they had a long competitive unbeaten record, the signs were visible from early on in the campaign. They failed to secure a direct spot in a group that only had Switzerland among the bigger European nations. Players repeatedly missed big chances in crucial moments including two penalties in as many qualifiers against the Swiss last year

COACH MANCINI MAY STEP DOWN

■ Roberto Mancini, who coached the team admirably to Euros win in 2021, said the 'disappointment is too great'. He may yet step down even if he enjoys the support of the players
■ This is the first time in their history that Italy, four-time world champions, have failed to qualify for consecutive World Cups

Jumbo Yogi ministry takes oath of office

26 members of the outgoing ministry axed; 32 new faces inducted

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

A fortnight after receiving a decisive mandate in the Assembly elections, Yogi Adityanath on Friday took the oath of office and secrecy for his second successive tenure as chief minister, the first person to do so in 37 years in Uttar Pradesh.

His 52-member ministry was sworn in before a packed Atal Bihari Vajpayee Ekana Stadium here. Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Central ministers like Amit Shah and Rajnath Singh, and chief ministers of all BJP-ruled states, including Nitish Kumar were present at the mega event.

After Yogi, his two deputies, Keshav Prasad Maurya and Brijesh Pathak, took oath. Maurya was retained despite his defeat from his traditional Sirathu seat. Having been a prominent OBC face of the party, his association with the RSS and VHP-Bajrang Dal made him important for the BJP.

Brajesh Pathak replaced Dr Dinesh Sharma, who was dropped. Pathak was law minister in Yogi 1.0. A prominent Brahmin face, he won the Lucknow Cantt seat in the recent polls. In 2017, he jumped ship from the BSP to the BJP.

The new ministry comprises 18 cabinet ministers, 14 ministers of state with independent charge and 20 ministers of state. In all, there are 32 new faces. Two BJP allies — Apna Dal (S) and NISHAD party — secured a berth each in the cabinet.

As many as 26 members in the outgoing ministry were axed; just 20 were retained.

Former Uttar Pradesh governor Baby Rani Maurya is among the new BJP inductees.

A prominent SC face belonging to the Jatav community, she had served as the first woman mayor of Agra besides being a member of National Commission for Women. Besides, UP BJP chief Swatantra Dev Singh has been promoted to cabinet rank. In previous ministry, he was a minister of state with independent charge.

Of the bureaucrat-turned-politicians who made it to the cabinet, the name that stood out was of Arvind Kumar Sharma, former IAS officer of the Gujarat cadre. Said to be close to Modi, Sharma had taken VRS and joined the BJP in January 2021. He is an MLC. Former Kanpur police commissioner Asim Arun, who took VRS just two months before the polls and joined BJP, has been inducted as MoS (independent charge). P9

Defusing border tension the key, says India. Move beyond it, suggests China

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

TWO completely different perceptions of the Sino-Indian ties emerged after the unscheduled meeting between External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and his Chinese counterpart Wang Yi. While Jaishankar sought to underline that bilateral ties would never be normal till total de-escalation happens on the Ladakh border, Wang sought to steer him away from the troubled frontier to other substantive issues and proposed a three-point formula.

"I would describe our current situation as a work in progress, obviously at a slower pace than desirable and my discussions with FM Wang Yi today were aimed at expediting the de-escalation process," Jaishankar said, underlining that India-China relations are not normal at the moment. The Galwan Valley conflict and China's deployment of troops along the Line of Actual Control since April 2020 have dented the bilateral ties, he added.

While Jaishankar flagged border tension as the key impediment to reconciliation, Wang said the two countries should put the differences at a 'proper position' so that they get resolved at their own pace.

Wang said he has proposed a three-point approach. "First, both sides should view bilateral relations with a long-term vision. Second, they should see each other's development with a win-win mentality. Third, both countries should take a part in the multilateral process with a cooperative posture," Xinhua quoted him as saying.

Wang flew into Delhi from Kabul on Thursday in an unannounced trip. This was the first high-level visit by a Chinese leader after the border standoff in Ladakh two years ago.

At a separate meeting, National Security Adviser Ajit Doval told Wang that complete disengagement of troops is key to progress in relations.

EQUAL REPRESENTATION FOR UPPER CASTES, OBCs

In the Yogi ministry, 38 are newly-elected MLAs, 10 MLCs and four non-members, who would have to take up a seat in the Assembly/council in six months. As for caste composition, upper castes got 21, OBCs 20, SCs eight and one each from the ST, Muslim and Sikh communities. As for women, five of them got berths

Siddu stirs row, says seers too cover heads

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

CONGRESS Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Friday created a controversy while defending Muslim girls wearing hijab, saying Hindu women and swamis too cover their heads.

Siddaramaiah's reference to seers while talking about the hijab row was criticised by saffron party leaders and other organisations, who said he is trying to appease the minorities, and wanted an apology from him.

Siddaramaiah said, "What is wrong in Muslim girls wearing hijab? Don't Hindu girls cover their heads? Swamis too put a cloth over their heads. Do you question them?" He said that BJP tried to stoke a controversy with the hijab issue, but people are smart and understood its hidden agenda.

He alleged that the compensation given to families of deceased Hindu activists is more compared to Muslim victims. "For the BJP, the discrimination and disparity is to build their Hindu vote bank. The party is also raking up controversial issues to polarise votes. But their calculations will fail as people have understood their design," he added. "Even among Hindus there is discrimination. While the government paid Rs 25 lakh to the family of Harsha, who was killed in Shivamogga, the same magnanimity was not shown to the family of Dinesh, who was murdered in coastal areas," he added.

On banning Muslim vendors from putting up stalls at Hindu jatras, Siddaramaiah said it unravels the hidden agenda of BJP.

Siddaramaiah took exception to Speaker Vishveshwara Hegde Kageri identifying himself with RSS, saying he should remain apolitical when he is occupying the chair of Speaker.

Demanding a criminal case against Renukacharya's daughter for availing SC certificate, while being from the Jangama community, Siddaramaiah criticised the government for defending Renukacharya.

Blame it on SMS? Soudha throws mask rule to wind

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IT all started with a purported message from the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike on Friday morning that wearing of masks is not mandatory anymore. Taking the message at its face value, staffers and legislators at Vidhana Soudha were seen moving around without masks during the day.

The issue was also raised by BJP MLC Bharathi Shetty on the floor of the Council and she put forth a question to Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar whether such instructions had been issued by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP). But Sudhakar was not on the floor of the House to answer her query.

Later, when The New Indian Express contacted him, Sudhakar said, "Covid-appropriate behaviour has to be followed mandatorily. We need to wear masks and maintain social distance. Let no one forget instructions on vaccination."

Even on the floor of both Houses, the members were not wearing masks. P6

CBI takes over Birbhum case after HC order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) took over the Birbhum killings case following a Calcutta High Court order on Friday. Observing that the incident "has shaken the conscience of the society", the HC made it clear that no state agency would conduct any further probe and that all the arrested accused must be handed over to the CBI.

The state police has so far arrested 23 persons, including the alleged mastermind, TMC's local block president Anarul Hossain, whose arrest was made following a directive by Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee. She had visited the carnage site at Rampurhat's Bogtubi village in Birbhum, where eight persons including three women and two children were set on fire by Trinamool men allegedly to avenge the murder of a local TMC leader. On Friday, a team from CSFL visited the site to collect samples.

The HC asked the CBI to submit its progress report by April 7, the next date of hearing of the matter.

UNAIDED PVT SCHOOLS

Collect SSLC fee, let students write exams: HC

System shows 'hall tickets held up' without assigning any reason

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court passed an interim order directing the Department of Public Instructions and Director of SSLC Board to allow the students of eight unaided private schools to appear for the SSLC examination by collecting the examination fees, in accordance with the guidelines dated March 21, 2022 issued by them.

Justice P Krishna Bhat passed the interim order after hearing the petition filed by Shanthi Nikethan High School and seven others in city. The petitioners said that on account of recognition issues, the students who are studying in the schools run by the petitioners, are not being permitted for the SSLC examination starting from March 28.

The court also issued notice to Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Primary and Secondary Education, Commissioner and Director of Department of Public Instructions and Director of SSLC Board.

The petitioners contended that they were given permanent recognition after their schools registered under the Karnataka Education Act, 1983, and imparting education from LKG to High School in Bengaluru South.

However, the Block Education Officers and the Deputy Director of Public Instructions would harass them repeatedly although they have fulfilled the requirements under the Act, they alleged.

They also submitted that they have paid the requisite fees to SSLC Board for the academic year 2021-22 along with consolidated nominal roll for SSLC Main Examination 2022 and draft hall ticket. When they tried to download the hall ticket like previous years, the system is showing "hall tickets held up" without any reasons.

"On enquiry, the Education Department officials informed them orally that every year they have to renew their recognition. In the absence of any specific provisions under the Act and as contemplated under Section 39 about 'Withdrawal of Recognition', the authorities cannot withhold hall/admission tickets of the wards of their school, without any reasons," petitioners' counsel GR Mohan argued.

Students cannot be barred over pending fees

BENGALURU: Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh on Friday said no student should be barred from appearing for SSLC exams if they have failed to pay their fees for the current academic year. During Zero Hour, JDS MLA Manjunath from Dasarahalli Assembly constituency raised the issue of non-payment of fees which has resulted in some students being deprived from taking SSLC exams which starts on Monday. He said that in many aided and private schools, the management is refusing hall tickets to the children. "I am aware that school managements have to pay salaries to their teachers. But that does not mean they can waste one year of a child. Instead, some time should be given," he said. Replying on this issue, Nagesh said he has already convened meeting with Block Education Officers and DDPI and has directed that no student should be denied hall tickets.

Ex-corporators bat for more power to Palike Council

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

FORMER councillors and civic experts have demanded that the government give Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) council more powers when it is formed again under the 74th Amendment so that there is proper coordination and untoward incidents are avoided.

Moreover, former councillor, especially from the BJP are working on making it a part of the election manifesto. When corporation elections are held, they claim it will work in their favour as citizens and civic experts want the same.

Former councillors explained that when the Council was in place, it didn't enjoy much power. Decision of sanctioning works above Rs 5 crore was with the government and bureaucrats ran the show.

The issue has gained momentum after the death of a 14-year-old girl on Ballari Road in Hebbal and the accident of a biker on Outer Ring Road. "The government should give more powers to the councillors and the administration should be brought under the wards. This will ensure accountability and better working. Since the BJP is in power and we are sure of winning the council elections, whenever held, this inclusion from the chief minister, who is also the Bengaluru development minister, will only help," said a former BJP councillor, requesting anonymity. Abdul Wajid, former Congress councillor said that once the council passes a resolution work should be done and councillors would take it up. Also, maintenance would be handled by the councillors. Although under the Bengaluru 2020 Act powers have been given to zonal commissioners, the officials are still running the show and they have no details of the wards and the needs. So giving more powers to the council, and holding elections at the earliest, should be the priority, he said.

After pleas, RERA may address complaints digitally

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING multiple appeals by the Karnataka Home Buyers Forum, the Karnataka Housing Department has finally taken up the case of a potential digital complaints redressal system as part of K-RERA.

The home buyers had been struggling for years to get relief after being allegedly stiffed by promoters and builders.

They had appealed to various government authorities, including the Karnataka Real Estate Regulatory Authority (K-RERA), on complaints and cases they had filed as well as suggestions on how to improve the current system to prevent years of waiting for complainants to get relief.

One of the suggestions was the implementation of a digital complaints redressal system, similar to the one recently imposed by Haryana RERA. If the request is implemented, Karnataka will become the second state to have such a system.

The home buyers believe that this will lead to more transparency and accountability, and will also help home buyers who do not reside in the state or Bengaluru.

In this regard, the buyers had appealed to the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs. In a document shared with TNIE, the Housing department secretary has forwarded the request to the Karnataka Housing Department's Secretary, who in turn asked K-RERA's Secretary to look into the request.

K-RERA Secretary Ibrahim Maigur could not be reached for comment regarding the potential implementation of the system.

No VC for 10 days, BU faculty launches protest

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

WITH the Bangalore University Vice-Chancellor's post remaining vacant, around a hundred faculty members and representatives of students' associations protested outside of the varsity on Friday.

They demanded that an acting or permanent VC be appointed by Monday, or they warned that all teaching, non-teaching staff as well as students' associations will call a strike. "This is the first time in the country's history where a university has not had a vice-chancellor for 10 days.

A university cannot function without a VC and by not appointing one, both the state government and governor are violating the Constitution," Dr Parameshwar Naik told TNIE. Dr Naik is a professor of environmental sciences at BU and coordinator of the Save Bangalore University Forum, a coalition of the protesters.

Former BU VC Prof KR Venugopal had vacated the post after the Karnataka High Court had dismissed four appeals on March 16 questioning the order of a single judge bench that had set aside the appointment of the VC since the appointment of the VC by the governor was done without the state government's concurrence. The forum had approached both the state government and the governor's office with the issue. "The government said the governor's office must make alternative arrangements for the proposal. But the governor's office said they are waiting on a proposal from the government to appoint a new VC," said Dr Naik.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

26th March: Let me look at Gemini today. Gemini people are often the liveliest on the planet. They are certainly the witliest. Listen to a Gemini speak and you'll be amazed how they can give a simple word a thousand different meanings. Many of them hilarious!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

You've been in the wilderness often enough, and sometimes you've felt alone even when surrounded by other people. I hope that recent developments have helped you to feel part of a real family once again. As you've discovered, you need more support than you imagined.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)

Mercury is still behaving strangely, moving from one intriguing region of your horoscope to another, revealing that, from now on, family and domestic affairs may require less thought, and that leisure and entertainment will be higher on your agenda. Think again about an arrangement which may best suit your date.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

The financial situation is still deeply uncertain, and there still seems to be a risk of much higher than expected costs. On the other hand, the stars are suggesting that if you want to splash out on luxuries, pleasures and objects of art, then so be it.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

As a Cancer you prefer not to face situations head on. Sometimes your tendency to approach life sideways can be a problem, but right now the indirect approach may serve you very well. How about moving forward in your typical sideways, crab-like manner?

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)

The Sun decrees that another special time of year is on the way. It is therefore apparent that nobody and nothing can prevent you from altering your lifestyle that is what you want. Financially, be careful later on for, as the hours pass, you may be more inclined to take risks.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

Although the Sun is responsible for a certain amount of confusion, it is also drawing you deeper into yourself. Spiritually-minded Virgos will be on top form. When you're in a tight corner you can follow a hunch. You may not be absolutely right, but you're almost there.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

There are a couple of surprises around the next corner. Don't panic, or imagine that you have been singled out for rough treatment. Such feelings result from the Moon's slightly destabilising effects, but the real situation is very different and your position is secure in many respects.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

Important developments in your intimate life are likely within the next two weeks. It is vital that you take a long-term view of partnership matters right away, otherwise you'll be wrong-footed later. The last thing you want to do now is surrender your lead or squander your advantages.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

Your solar horoscope is quite frankly rather bland at the moment. This means that you have plenty of scope to make your own way, but I fear that many Sagittarians may soon be suffering from boredom. That's because you wrongly imagine that you have been blocked from pursuing a major personal goal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

Any negotiations or discussions should proceed quite happily now that Mercury is trucking along through a deeply helpful region of your chart. Wait a few days, perhaps until the end of next week, before expecting results. The message of the day is that freedom is on the way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

Look at the long-term and make your plans accordingly. You will soon come to realise just how well off you really are. In the meantime, you'll be receiving some lively social invitations - and maybe even a romantic proposal. It will all be exciting, but fast.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20)

Beneath the long-term and make your plans accordingly. You will soon come to realise just how well off you really are. In the meantime, you'll be receiving some lively social invitations - and maybe even a romantic proposal. It will all be exciting, but fast.

Docs in US see rise in gastro infection, nausea cases

They suspect new Covid-19 sub-variant hits gut; suggest need to watch out for symptoms, genome sequencing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DOCTORS across several countries, mainly the US, are taking to social media to warn colleagues about an increase in patients coming in with predominant nausea, vomiting and abdominal pain. They claim that there is emerging anecdotal evidence that the new sub-variants are attacking the gut, rather than the nasopharyngeal area, and are advocating that cases with these symptoms be genome-sequenced to check for any new variant.

Dr Risa Hosino, Board-Certified Paediatrician in Public Health and vaccine expert from the US, took to Twitter and said, "Please test for Covid if you are having gastrointestinal symptoms such as nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, heartburn or abdominal pain. I am seeing a huge increase in these symptoms (sometimes without any upper respiratory symptoms)."

Meanwhile, Chuck Wurster, Emergency Physician from Alberta tweeted, "Seeing a lot more patients coming in with predominant nausea, vomiting, and abdominal pain. A lot. There is emerging anecdotal evidence from other places that the new sub-variants cause more of these kind of symptoms. Would not be surprised if this surge is being driven by Covid."

However, in India, doctors claim that though there is a need to watch out for any kind of change in clinical symptoms, as of now are no such changes are reported, and these gut-related symptoms were reported during the Delta and Omicron waves too.

Speaking to TNIE, Dr Srikantha JT, paediatric pulmonologist, Apollo Hospitals, said, "We have seen these in both the waves and the higher number of cases during Omicron gave us a clue that Covid-19 doesn't really cause only respiratory issues, but can also cause non-respiratory symptoms."

Meanwhile, the Technical

Advisory Committee, at its recent meeting, notified doctors to look out for any change in clinical symptoms, and Victoria Hospital has been selected as one of the hospitals where clinical surveillance will be conducted and a report submitted to the government.

Dr Giridhara Babu R, public health expert and epidemiologist, said, "It is important for doctors to look for any new symptoms. Gut-related symptoms were there during earlier waves too in the state. Doctors will be the first to note a change in symptoms being reported, so TAC has recommended clinical surveillance."

So far, as many as 25 symptoms have been reported by people who have been infected with Omicron and Delta waves. These include high fever, chills, cough, shortness of breath or difficulty in breathing, fatigue, muscle or body ache, headache, loss of taste or smell, sore throat or hoarse voice, congestion or runny nose, nausea or vomiting, diarrhoea, continuous cough, back pain, loss of appetite, delirium, heartburn, bloating, sleep paralysis, skin rash, night sweats, Covid tongue, Covid toes or fingers, chest pain and abdominal pain.

Covid cases continue to decline, state sees 89 fresh infections

Bengaluru: Karnataka on Friday reported 89 fresh Covid-19 cases and four fatalities taking the total caseload and death toll to 39,45,168 and 40,048, respectively. As many as 85 patients got discharged today while the number of recoveries was 39,03,286, read a government bulletin. Of the new cases, 73 were from Bengaluru Urban which recorded 57 recoveries and two deaths, said the bulletin. The number of active cases in the state was 1,792. The four virus-related deaths reported today comprise two from Bengaluru Urban, and one each from Dharwad and Tumakuru. ENS

Driver charred to death after two trucks collide

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a gruesome incident, a 28-year-old truck driver was burnt alive after two speeding trucks collided with each other on National Highway 7 near Devanahalli on Thursday night. The deceased has been identified as Vasanth Kumar, a native of Bagepalli in Chikkaballapur district.

According to the police, both the trucks were on their way to unload cement bags at an apartment complex in Yelahanka. According to eyewitnesses, the drivers of both the trucks were driving in a reckless manner and were trying to overtake each other. At around 9.45 pm, one of the drivers, Velu, tried to overtake the truck driven by Vasanth and hit the side of the latter's truck. As a result, both the trucks topped resulting in a massive fire. Vasanth was stuck between the seat and steering wheel and was charred to death.

Employees of a nearby eatery noticed the mishap and alerted the fire and emergency services personnel, who rushed to the spot and doused the fire.

Velu, who sustained minor injuries, managed to escape and efforts are on to nab him. "Those who were eating at the dhaba ran away after noticing the fire. Firemen used gas cutters to retrieve Vasanth's body," Raghuram, an eyewitness said.

Vasanth was earlier working as a daily-wager and joined as a driver two years ago. He was unmarried. Meanwhile, traffic was thrown out of gear on the busy highway for more than two hours.

Sacked, man plots to kill HR manager

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Bagalur police on Friday arrested four men on charges of hatching a conspiracy to kill an HR manager of a private company after one of the accused was sacked from his job.

The prime accused, Madhu, 30, was an employee of a company which manufactures defence equipment. According to the police, Madhu violated norms of the company by shooting videos on its premises. The management asked the HR manager, Rajashankar Rai, to sack Madhu for his act. An enraged Madhu hatched a conspiracy along with three of his friends to murder Rai on March 8.

Rai was attacked on March 8 while he was returning home in his car. Rai, who managed to escape, approached the Bagalur police. However, Rai's ordeal did not end there. The accused were waiting for Rai at his residence in Rajarajeshwarinagar and attacked him once again.

RLYs MUST START NEW, RELEVANT ROUTES IN K'TAKA, SAYS GOWDA

Former PM speaks of connectivity to Madikeri, better linkage to Shravanabelagola

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Railways should start new lines along relevant routes in Karnataka to help the travelling public, demanded former Prime Minister and JDS patriarch HD Deve Gowda on the floor of Rajya Sabha.

Shravanabelagola in Hassan, which is a religious centre of Jainism and sees tourists from across the world, needs to be connected to places like Madikeri by train. "Remember Madikeri has no rail connectivity because of its challenging hilly terrain and there has been no convincing attempt to connect it by train," he added.

He also spoke of a railway line from Mysuru to Madikeri

Madikeri has no rail connectivity because of its challenging hilly terrain and there has been no convincing attempt to connect it by train and said it would help run the train from Bengaluru to Mangaluru.

Gowda, who is credited with carving out the South Western Railway from the Southern Railway to benefit Karnataka, pointed out that at places like Munirabad to Mehboobnagar, people hang on to railings and footboards of trains while travelling. These trains to then undivided Andhra Pradesh too were announced during his tenure as Prime Minister, he said.

Experts pointed out that rail infrastructure and connectivity in Karnataka is poor and is only one-third of what exists in Tamil Nadu, which tops the list in South India.

He reminded the House that opposition leader Mallikarjun Kharge was the railway minister when the Hassan-Bengaluru and Hassan-Chikkamagaluru lines were taken up and completed.

Gowda said that when he approached Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, the latter immediately called railway officials and gave them directions.

Gowda recalled that he had sanctioned a railway line of around 70 km from Bengaluru to Kanakapura, represented by KPCC president D K Shivakumar, and the survey had also been completed.

Gowda said that when he was the Prime Minister, railway officials were thinking of cancelling the Mysore-Arasikere line and had also started removing tracks, saying it was not feasible. But he intervened, and now, 28 trains are running on that route.

IN the backdrop of Muslim shopkeepers being prevented from setting up shops in and around temples during jatra, street vendors of Bengaluru have strongly condemned the communalisation attempts by right-wing organisations.

The Bangalore Pragati-para Beedhi Vyaparigala Sangha and other allied organisations deplored the intense communal assault on the livelihood of street vendors in Karnataka.

"The Vishwa Hindu Parishat is putting pressure on temple management committees and urging the State Government to ban non-Hindu traders from setting up shops during temple fairs, annual festivals and religious festivities. The various statements made by ministers clearly shows that the BJP government is complicit in this demand of the Sangh Parivar," they said and reminded the government that street vendors face daily harassment at the hands of the civil authorities and the police.

They alleged that communal polarisation has been brewing for some time and now it has become a full-blown attack. "A muslim ice-cream vendor was thrashed in Uppinangady in Mangaluru by a mob of communal goons at an annual temple fair. Recently, Hindu religious flags were hoisted on shops of Muslims in Vijayanagar, Bengaluru. But, the vendors remained united and the flags were removed.

Muslims must stay out of Sagar fair too: VHP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Shivamogga

AFTER Muslims traders were not allowed to set up shops during the city's Sri Kote Marikamba Jatra, a similar demand has come up in the run-up to the Maha Ganapati Jatra at Sagar town in the district. The mega fair is scheduled to be held on the banks of Ganapati Kere from April 5 to 19.

The Vishwa Hindu Parishat has urged the office of the assistant commissioner in Sagar to not allow Muslim shops during the jatra, which is one of the most celebrated events in Sagar taluk. No Muslim-owned shops were allowed during the Sri Kote Marikamba Jatra in Shivamogga city. The organisation is demanding similar measures in Maha Ganapati Jatra too.

The parishat's Sagar unit urged the assistant commissioner to bar Muslims from setting up shops. In a memorandum, parishat leaders said the authorities auction stalls to sell flowers, fruits, toys and food during the fair. However, the temple is under the Muzrai Department.

As per the rules prescribed by the government, non-Hindus cannot be allowed to open shops on temple premises, they claimed.

The parishat said, "Allowing Muslims to open stalls during the fair will not be appropriate. Many jatra committees in Shivamogga, Dakshina Kannada and Sirsi have not allowed non-Hindus to open shops around temples," they said.

Meanwhile, the City Municipal Council of Sagar has postponed the auction for setting up an amusement park at the fair.

Shah to visit next week, likely to kick off poll campaign

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah's visit to Karnataka on April 1, after the BJP's victory in assembly elections in four states, has evoked curiosity in political circles. He is likely to launch the party's campaign in Karnataka, a year ahead of assembly elections.

Significantly, Shah will take part in the 116th birthanniversary of Sri Shivakumara Swami at Siddaganga Mutt, a prominent Lingayat religious institution in the state. The mutt used to throw its weight behind former chief minister B S Yediyurappa, whenever he was in a crisis.

Shah, the country's first co-operation minister, is likely to take part in a mega event organised by Karnataka Cooperation Minister S T Somashekar, at the Palace Grounds.

His visit has already started creating ripples in BJP circles, and speculation is rife whether he will give his nod for Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's cabinet reshuffle, and for the list of nominees for boards and corporations.

Soon after Bommai took charge, Shah had asserted that the next assembly polls will be fought under the former's leadership in Karnataka, giving him a shot in the arm. Now, after winning assembly elections in four states under the combined leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Shah himself, and the chief ministerial candidate, Shah may chalk out a similar strategy with Bommai.

The change in guard in the party is likely to come up for discussion during Shah's visit. Ahead of his visit, Bommai and state BJP chief Nalin Kumar Kateel are expected to hold discussions privately, and also with party functionaries, sources said.

Araga visits Tumakuru

Karnataka Home Minister Araga Jnanendra visited Tumakuru on Friday and took stock of the security arrangements. Tumakuru Deputy Commissioner Y S Patil and SP Rahul Kumar Shahapurwad held a preliminary meeting. Shah is due to land at Tumakuru University's helipad on April 1, take part in the birth anniversary celebrations of Sri Shivakumara Swamiji and fly back to Bengaluru to take part in the cooperation department's mega event.

2023 elections will be my last, but will remain politically active, says Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CONGRESS Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Friday said the 2023 Assembly elections in the state will be his last, but will continue to remain in active politics. The former chief minister's critics, however, reminded him that he had said the same in 2018, and even in 2013 when he went on to become the chief minister after the polls.

Speaking to the media at Siddaramanahundi, he said, "I will remain in active politics, but electoral politics... most likely the next Assembly elections will be the last that I will be contesting." On asked which constituency he will be contesting from, the Badami MLA said there is still one more year for the polls, and is yet to take a call in this regard. He, however, said he would abide the Congress' decision regarding the party's CM face.

"Party workers and my well-wishers from Varuna, Hunsur, Chamarajpet, Badami, Kolar, Hebbal, Koppal and Chamundeshwari are asking me to contest from their constituencies. I'm yet to decide," he added.

There has been much speculation within the party for some time now that the former CM may return to contest from some constituency in the Old Mysuru region in 2023.

Siddaramaiah celebrates with villagers during the Sri Siddarameshwara Jatra

Ex-CM goes back in time, dances to drum beats

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

FORMER chief minister Siddaramaiah regaled the crowds as he perfectly stepped to drum beats during Sri Siddarameshwara Jatra festival at his village at Siddaramana Hundi on Thursday night.

The child in him came alive as he performed Veera Makkala kuniitha, which he had learnt when he was young, for over 40 minutes in front of a large number of villagers who had gathered for the jatra. As mobile phones started recording the rare performance, Siddaramaiah kept chatting with fellow villagers as he was dancing and also corrected the steps of a few youngsters. "I am happy that I am having a good time at my village with my friends and relatives. I am a serious walker and dancing for nearly 40 minutes helped me," he said.

He was at the jatra of Siddarameshwara temple that has been constructed with contributions from his family and other villagers. He led the jatra from the front and visited homes of his childhood friends. He ensured that all the visitors to the temple had food and also flagged off the day-long procession accompanied by folk troupes.

Tipu chapters to stay, but may be toned down

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TIPU Sultan is likely to get less significance in coming school textbooks as a report submitted by the review committee has reportedly suggested omitting the more 'glorified' aspects of the ruler's history.

If the Education Department takes the report into consideration, the changes will be implemented in textbooks from classes 1 to 10 in the coming academic year.

Rumours were also doing the rounds that the committee had recommended omitting chapters on Tipu Sultan altogether, but Education Minister BC Nagesh dismissed them on Friday. He clarified that the chapters will not be dropped. "There are certain historical issues which need to be told to future generations. There are many untold history pieces which need to be narrated. Now the time has come to correct these mistakes made in the past. We are not mixing politics here," he said.

The review committee was formed in September last year by the Department of Primary and Secondary Education, and is headed by Rohith Chakrathirtha, a member of the Karnataka Development Authority, which had led to much opposition from the Congress and other groups.

Kageri slams officials for making expecting mothers walk

Questioning their common sense, Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri on Friday rebuked officials of the Women and Child Welfare Department for making expecting and lactating mothers walk to far off anganwadi centres for mid-day meals. "One should have common sense before issuing such orders," he said. Raising the matter in the Assembly, Sringeri MLA Rajegowda said many expecting and lactating mothers are forced to walk 2-3 km to Anganwadi centres for mid-day meals. Women and Child Welfare Minister Halappa Achar said officials submitted a report that the food grains were consumed by their family members, and suggested that expecting and lactating mothers should come to anganwadi centres for mid-day meals. The Speaker said the report by the officials lacks common sense.

MLC wants govt to do away with masks

BJP MLC Bharathi Shetty on Friday asked the State Government whether there was any proposal to relax the face mask rules as Covid-19 cases have come down. "Considering that the number of Covid-19 cases has dropped in the state, is it possible to relax the face mask rules?" she asked the government.

GST cess may be extended for 3 years

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J C Madhuswamy said the State Government has urged the Centre to continue the GST compensation cess for at least three more years. "We are anticipating and hoping that the system will continue for the next three years," he said.

Conviction rate 7% in atrocity cases: Poojari

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SOCIAL Welfare Minister Kota Shrinivas Poojari said the conviction rate in atrocity cases was seven per cent in 2021.

Replying to a question by MLC UB Venkatesh, the minister said the conviction rate in the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act cases were 10 and seven per cent in 2019 and 2020, respectively. He said the department has issued a circular asking public prosecutors to consider the pending cases seriously and present arguments effectively so that the accused are convicted. Poojari added that 5,434, 5,667, and 6,556 cases were registered under the Act in 2019, 2020 and 2021, respectively.

CID probe into tax evasion: Sriramulu

Transport Minister B Sriramulu told the council that the government has decided to conduct a CID probe in connection with the irregularities in collecting tax for luxury cars. Replying to a query, he said the RTO had conducted a probe into the registration of luxury cars (priced more than Rs 20 lakh) without collecting lifetime tax. "It is found that some cars are registered without paying tax, but the records are missing. It has been decided to hand over the case to CID," he added.

No data theft at UIDAI data centre: Araga

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said no data related to Aadhaar has been stolen in the incident at UIDAI data centre in Hebbal, from where computer chips were allegedly stolen.

MLC UB Venkatesh demanded the transfer of the case to a central agency as the police had not solved the case though five months have elapsed. He also expressed concern that the public may be put at risk if anti-social elements get access to the stolen data.

'People assume there's no need to wear masks'

ASKED about it, Chairman of the Upper House Basavaraj Horatti said, "I suspect many people assume that there is no need to wear masks anymore. It could be because they are not aware that masks and certain Covid guidelines continue."

Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri said, "What can I say? If members do not have self-discipline, we cannot have any positive impact."

The Union government on Wednesday had stated that the majority of the restrictions imposed over the last two years to contain the spread of Covid would be lifted from March 31. However, it had clearly mentioned that people should continue to wear masks, maintain social distance and adhere to Covid-appropriate behaviour.

Eviction orders, even if God is the encroacher: Madras HC

Order in a dispute in which a temple blocked the road from a private property

R SIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

THE Madras High Court on Friday said courts will order removal of encroachments even if it is made by God in public space.

Justice N Anand Venkatesh made this observation while passing orders on a case relating to a structure raised by the Palapattarai Mariamman Temple located in Namakkal on a public street and denied access to the adjacent property owner.

"We have reached a situation where even if God encroaches on a public space, courts will direct the removal of these encroachments as public interest and rule of law must be safeguarded and upheld," he said.

Noting that the courts cannot be hoodwinked by encroaching and constructing a temple in the name of God the judge said, no God has made any request to construct new temples by encroaching upon public space or by raising a structure in the name of the temple. The judge stated that long ago individuals created an impression that they can encroach upon public space by raising a temple or planting an idol. "Courts are not concerned about who or in what name such encroachments take place," he said. An illegal act of encroachment on a public street, even if it is a temple, should be prevented.

Such structures which hinder public movement on the street must be removed immediately, said Justice Anand Venkatesh.

Quoting a judgment, he pointed out that owner of a property located adjacent to a public street has got the right of access on the street at any point where the property touches the street. Referring to the dispute, he said the temple administration violated a status quo order and completely denied access to the street from their property.

B'luru police seek second accused for threat to K'taka CJ

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

The Vidhana Soudha police on Friday sought the body warrant of accused Zamaal Mohammad Usmani (44) for issuing a life threat to the chief justice of Karnataka High Court over the hijab row verdict.

A senior police officer said that based on the information given by Rahamatullah, who was arrested earlier, Usmani was picked up from Thanjavur and is in the custody of Tamil Nadu police. "We have sought his police custody for eight days. Usmani, who is allegedly a drug addict, was provoking people. We have seized his gadgets as part of the investigation," he added. Rahamatullah and Usmani, office-bearers of the Tamil Nadu Towheed Jamaat (TNTJ), were arrested after a video containing the threat message to the chief justice went viral. The police suspect that Usmani might have shared the threat message on social media sites, and among TNTJ members.

The Vidhana Soudha police last Saturday registered an FIR against Rahmatullah, a resident of Coimbatore, after the video went viral on social media sites and local news channels. The full bench headed by Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi delivered the verdict on March 15.

Target of 10GW in new green energy policy

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WITH the state government having crossed the target of renewable energy generation, especially solar and wind, Karnataka Renewable Energy Development Limited (KERDL) officials have raised the bar in the new policy, which is before the state cabinet for approval.

KERDL has proposed, for 2022-27, a target of generating 10 gigawatt of renewable energy, up from the present 6000MW. That is not all -- two new ventures have been given more thrust on hybrid power generation and green hydrogen policy.

"We are an energy-surplus state. Of the present generation of around 30,000MW a day, 15,000MW is from renewable energy, of which half each is solar and wind. Lack of funds is a hindrance to more generation, so private players will be roped in for generation where state government agencies will partner with them or be land aggregators, so they have more confidence in generation," an energy department official told TNIE.

AP tops in use of eSanjeevini

ENS @New Delhi/Vijayawada

ANDHRA Pradesh topped the list of States using the Cental government's integrated telemedicine service, eSanjeevini, recording 1.3 crore teleconsultations.

Karnataka, West Bengal and Tamil Nadu followed Andhra Pradesh in the ranking. Andhra had grabbed the top slot the previous year also.

The Andhra Pradesh initiated the e-Sanjeevani service on November 7, 2019. A total of 13 telemedicine hubs were established in medical colleges with one hub each in 13 districts.

All 1,145 Primary Health Centres (PHCs) and 2,914 Sub-Health Centres (SHCs) are connected to these telemedicine hubs to provide medical services.

Employer, not court, to decide qualification for appointment: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

NOTING that the qualification prescribed for appointment to a post has to be decided by the employer, the Karnataka High Court on Friday said that the courts cannot lay down the conditions or eligibility, much less delve into the issue of desirable education by re-writing prescribed qualification.

A division bench of Justices Alok Aradhe and S Vishwajith Shetty made the observation while dismissing a petition filed by Harsha M Nadagoudar, a resident of Bengaluru, questioning the order dated July 3, 2021 passed by the Karnataka State Administrative Tribunal which dismissed his application.

Before the Tribunal, Nadagoudar had questioned the validity of Karnataka Town Planning Department Services (Recruitment) Rules, 1996 on the ground that it is ultra vires the Constitution as it does not include the bachelor's degree in planning as one of the qualifications along with the degree in civil engineering and degree in architecture. The Karnataka State Public Service Commission issued the notification on June 24, 2020 inviting applications for the post of assistant director of town and country planning. The qualification prescribed was a degree in civil engineering or architecture from a recognised university.

The petitioner had challenged this notification before the Tribunal, which dismissed the application preferred by him on the ground that he does not have the requisite qualification.

Recent visits to Pak have irked authorities: Filippo

SHAN AS @ T'Puram

RENOWNED anthropologist Filippo Osella has said he suspected his recent academic visits to Pakistan might have triggered paranoia in the Indian administration that ordered his deportation from Thiruvananthapuram airport on his arrival from the UK on Thursday.

The Sussex University scholar said bureaucratic paranoia should not be allowed to impinge on the pursuit of scientific knowledge.

"I hope this is not my last (attempted) visit to Kerala. I also hope that incidents such as those I experienced on Thursday - and which are becoming increasingly common - will not come in the way of collaborations with Indian scientists and universities at a time when the latter are trying tirelessly to internationalise their research endeavours. I'd rather be thinking that I have been the object of plain paranoid bureaucratic foolhardiness which, arrogant and offensive as it might be, should not be allowed to impinge on the pursuit of scientific knowledge," Filippo told TNIE in an e-mail interview on Friday. Filippo said he was still unaware of the reason for his deportation and guessed that it might have to do with his Pakistani visits for conducting research and attending conferences there. Accusing the immigration officials at Trivandrum international airport for cold-shouldering him, the 65-year-old said they threatened to restrain him when he sought access to his luggage to retrieve medicines for blood pressure.

With a 30-year history of conducting research in the state, Filippo said Kerala has become a second home for him and added that he was relieved to be told that the deportation was decreed by the Government of India, and not the Kerala government. The officials, however, refused to provide any reason for deporting him despite repeated requests from Filippo.

AP govt violated treasury codes: CAG

VIJAYAWADA : TTHE Andhra Pradesh government violated treasury codes and transacted a gross amount of ` 48,284.31 crore, the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) observed, while pointing out several lapses in managing the State's finances. In its report for the financial year 2020-21 tabled in the State Assembly on Friday, the CAG red-flagged the off-budget borrowings of over ` 38,000 crore, which was not disclosed in the State Budget.

PHENOMENAL RISE IN EXPORTS & THE PATH AHEAD FOR INDIA

For the first time, India will likely clock out the current fiscal with $410 billion worth merchandise exports, translating to a phenomenal 41% increase over the previous year. What quickens the pulse is that unlike GDP growth, exports performance isn't due to a low base effect as they were north of the pre-pandemic level in FY21 itself. Which is why Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal called the achievement a 'Made in India blockbuster'. Another notable element was the much-needed export basket diversification. In FY22, India began to shed its image as a primary commodities' exporter, moving up the chain exporting high-value and finished goods. Provided we sustain and improve the prevailing daily average of $1 billion worth exports, the $1 trillion exports target by 2030 is doable.

Multiple factors helped achieve the surge. The rise in pent-up demand, boost in domestic manufacturing led by production-linked incentive schemes and interim trade pacts came in handy. The government's eagle eye facilitated ties among states and districts; its engagement with all stakeholders and a detailed strategy, including country and product-wise targets, helped. But above all, high commodity and crude oil prices did the essential heavy lifting. For instance, while the impact of rising crude oil prices on processed petroleum—India's single largest export item—was evident, high prices of raw materials like steel, chemicals and plastics bumped up the overall figure. Besides, rising food security concerns in the Middle East, North Africa and others aided agri exports to their highest-ever growth yet.

But the downside is that imports too rose by a troublesome 59% so far this fiscal and will likely widen the FY22 current account deficit. Moreover, trade bodies have already warned that exports growth will likely slow down to 15-17.5% in FY23, citing new Covid infections and supply-side challenges. While recent moves like RCEP boost intra-regional trade, it's essential to diversify geographically. Like the pact with Mauritius, our first-ever trade agreement with an African economy, we must foster more bilateral trade and enhance market access to survive the incoming era of regionalism.

TN'S EDU FOCUS FOR INCLUSIVE GROWTH

A raft of reforms introduced by the Tamil Nadu government recently has brought back the focus on quality of education in the state. These include the 'Naan Mudhalvan' scheme, through which the government plans to improve academic and employability skills of 10 lakh youth every year, and the 'Illam Thedi Kalvi', launched with the help of 1.8 lakh volunteers to address children's learning losses due to Covid. Recently the state Budget allocated ₹36,895 crore, TN's highest, for school education. The state's emphasis on social inclusivity over the years and pioneering intervention measures such as noon-meals scheme and free distribution of notebooks, uniforms and laptops have ensured consistently high enrolment rate at all levels, but quality of education has been a concern for long.

The state faces three significant changes. First, the UGC has decided to introduce a mandatory Common University Education Test (CUET) for admission to UG programmes in all 45 central universities. It is important for TN to raise the standard of school education lest students face challenges akin to NEET. Second, despite long years of political and legal struggle, TN has not got an exemption from NEET for medical admissions. While it is important to continue the fight to wrest back the state's rights over education, it would be prudent for TN to expeditiously improve the quality of learning and teaching to progressively move students from rote learning to conceptual learning.

Third, the recent Annual Status of Education Report (ASER) for 2019-20 shows that the majority of children in Class 3 in rural schools across the country do not have the basic skills to read and write, and perform basic operations with numbers. On a 70-point grading index, TN, with a score of 132, has the lowest learning outcome and quality compared to Karnataka (160), Kerala (154), Andhra Pradesh (154) and Telangana (142). The state finance minister said the Budget was prepared keeping in mind generations of Tamils yet unborn. The fight for social justice is only half-won. Education may be the first and best place to start this battle for an inclusive Dravidian model of growth.

India's decision to abstain has been prompted by several considerations and we need not judge it. But it is shocking that our campuses are bereft of genuine sentiment against the war

WHY ARE WE INDIFFERENT TO THE UKRAINE WAR?

K JAYAKUMAR

Former Kerala chief secretary & ex-VC of Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam University

The Russian aggression in Ukraine and the human tragedy unfolding in the war zone are no longer front-page or prime-time 'stories' for most sections of Indian media. It is a war in which our country has considerable stakes. Even before its economic and diplomatic consequences are fully gauged, India has to tackle complex geopolitical issues and tricky diplomatic riddles. It is creditable that around 22,000 Indian students have been evacuated from Ukraine by the Indian government. Whether the intervention was timely or the conduct of the Indian Embassy in Ukraine was laudable are, at the moment, issues of secondary importance. That several thousand Indian citizens have returned safely from a war-ravaged country is no doubt a commendable achievement. With the safe return of Indian students, we seem to have lost interest in the war; its human tragedy and moral peridy.

While (the unimaginatively named) 'Operation Ganga' was in progress, newspapers and electronic media were rife with sentimental stories of anxious parents and the eventual happy reunion with their children. The plight of Indian students spending tense hours in dormitories with limited facilities and poor quality food and such facts are known to us in micro details, thanks to a probing media. The still-raging war in Ukraine and the scale of misery, displacement, death of civilians and children, massive migration to neighbouring countries, blatant violation of human rights, the effete role of the United Nations, and the dubious stands of countries professing friendship and empathy with Ukraine have all receded to the inner pages of newspapers. Capturing the joyful moments of family reunion no doubt is a feel-good human story and the hardships endured by our young people in a war zone deserve to be portrayed. But is this war important for us only because it involved the safety of Indian students? The suffering of the people of Ukraine and the sheer belligerence of Russia have been mostly ignored.

Sections of Indian media that regularly get news, photos and videos from the conflict zones in Syria, Afghanistan, Yemen and elsewhere by arrangements with international news agencies seem to have suddenly mellowed, balanced and 'correct'. They do carry news on the war but make sure not to take sides. The coverage is at best lukewarm. We are used to a different style of war reporting. Indian media has always taken a categorical stand against aggression anywhere. Is there an invisible 'muting factor' at work? Perhaps not. One of the probable reasons for this feigned disinterest could be the misplaced notion of political correctness. As India abstained in the UN from a resolution condemning the aggression, sections of the media might be feeling that highlighting the scale of human misery, death and desperation among the people of Ukraine could be seen as not in conformity with the government's stand in the UN. They are poignantly aware that one tell-tale photo can change society's perception of the war: India's decision to abstain has been prompted by several considerations and we need not judge it or quarrel with it. Does it imply that there is an unwritten injunction for the media and society against a contrary stand? There cannot be a compulsion, direct or oblique, to share identical views with the government on an issue pertaining to the aggression of a country against its neighbour. Of course it would be a different story had India been a party to the conflict. The media has an inalienable right and duty to inform citizens what exactly is happening in Ukraine? That could mostly be inconvenient to the government. But making governments comfortable is no task assigned to the media.

Media reflects the abiding mood of society. And the society seems to be distinctly indifferent. The war in Ukraine has ceased to be a major topic of discussion in social circles, social media, among professionals, within the family and in the public domain. Conditioned by the multiple possibilities of the additive social media, news on the war and the stories of human misery do not elicit the usual and expected response from the youth (In fact, they couldn't care less). The campuses are shockingly bereft of any genuine sentiment against the war. For the youth as well as a large section of society, a moral indignation toward an aggression of the strong against the weak is no longer a natural reaction. We are not sure whether we should be with David or Goliath.

Essentially the citizen is slowly becoming more self-absorbed. The tragedy in another country does not bother us as it used to on earlier occasions. The technology-induced self-indulgent ethos currently in vogue obliterates moral deprivations and unethical behaviour, whether among individuals, leaders or nations. Unless corrected, this inward spiral could soon eat into the very vitals of our democratic habits and scotch citizens' right to ask questions. When a society gets addicted to silence and non-questioning, the rulers eschew the democratic obligation to answer: The youth, public intellectuals, academics, political and religious leaders have all become meek. They pretend to be oblivious to an unfair war and its human and moral dimensions. This has actually brought out the cracks in our democracy that discounts dissent, disagreement and difference. In short, this unhappy social conduct portends an emerging ethos of our democracy that encourages us neither to ask questions nor seek answers.

BLOOD ANTIQUITIES FROM KASHMIR IN A NEW YORK MUSEUM

S VIJAY KUMAR

Co-founder, India Pride Project and author of The Idol Thief

What does Kashmir, the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, an indicted art smuggler and Kamadeva have in common?

In 1993, the Met Museum purchased a sculpture of the God of Love from Art of the Past, which was run by Subash Kapoor, who was later charged with art smuggling both in the US and India. Nevertheless, the museum continues to display it even now despite all that has happened since Kapoor's arrest in Germany in 2011.

It doesn't stop at that and there are other cases where the same museum continues to display antiquities sourced from art dealers who were later indicted. In 1991, it purchased a Gandhara door guardian (4th century CE) from Doris Wiener with no provenance listed. Doris Wiener has since died and her art gallery business has passed to her daughter Nancy Wiener, who has been formally charged for cultural property theft in the US.

For a more detailed perusal of the New York museum's collection of Kashmiri artefacts, we split their collection into those from the 'gifts' of the mathematician Samuel Eilenberg and the rest.

Eilenberg amassed an art collection worth more than $5 million and his obituary in The New York Times says: "The works were made between the 3d century BCE and 17th century CE in Indonesia, Pakistan, India, Nepal, Thailand, Cambodia, Sri Lanka and Central Asia. The collection came to be valued at more than $5 million. In 1987, he gave more than 400 artefacts from the collection to the Metropolitan Museum, which put on a show of holdings from his collection. 'The Lotus Transcendent: Indian and Southeast Asian Art from the Samuel Eilenberg Collection', in 1991 and 1992."

These are his gifts. Not a single artefact has any clear provenance or even a mere date of acquisition. The documentation of the show by the museum through a book showers praise on his collection without saying anything about the acquisition process.

The museum's publication says: "Private collections are almost always personal and idiosyncratic. Nevertheless, relative to each individual, certain constraints exist. It is a truism that, subject to practicalities, serious collectors acquire the objects whose aesthetic qualities they admire and to which they respond both intellectually and emotionally—thus, they honour and pay respect to the cultures and artists responsible for producing the works of art. In this, Samuel Eilenberg is no exception. And rather than admiring these cultures from afar, Eilenberg has made innumerable trips to India, Pakistan, Indonesia, and Thailand to carefully study their museums and monuments."

One passage struck me in particular: "While the provenance of most of these works of art can be deduced from formal characteristics and other evidence, a few are so unusual that their places of origin remain somewhat speculative." As a professor and world-renowned mathematician who travelled extensively to visit museums in the source nations to understand these cultures and context of their objects, one would think he would definitely have retained purchase records, legitimate receipts and export permits. Nevertheless, the publication, despite all its tall claims, is starkly empty in its use of the word 'provenance'. And the fact that many of these source nations had cultural patrimony laws during this period is conveniently forgotten.

Let's look at the case of India. The Antiquities (Export Control) Act, 1947, clearly states under Section 3, Prohibition of Export: "No person shall export any antiquity except under the authority of a licence granted by the Central government."

If indeed, as per reports, the collections were formed after 1950, surely the collector or the museums should have at least a single export licence?

What is also interesting is that this was no gift—for there is an element of reciprocity. "In return for his generosity, the museum raised most of the $1.5 million necessary to create the Samuel Eilenberg Visiting Professorship of Mathematics at Columbia," the NYT adds in its tribute to him.

Now let us look at the non-Eilenberg artefacts in the museum from Kashmir. A rough sampling of 25 of them show that except for a single artefact, none have even a pre-1975 provenance. Even that single one is listed as a gift of Ben Heller, in 1970. Heller was the same infamous dealer who trafficked the stolen Sivapuram Nataraja and sold it for a million dollars to the Norton Simon museum in 1972.

In 1991, the museum received a Vaikunta Vishnu (late 8th century CE, Kashmir) as "a gift from Rossi & Rossi Ltd." and no other details are given. In 1989, it acquired a 7th century CE Ekamukalinga (Kashmir) from John Siudmak Asian Art, London, again with no provenance listed. Other antiquities from Kashmir on display at the Met Museum include a panel from a Portable Shrine: The Descent of the Buddha from Tra-yastrimsha Heaven (7th-8th century, till 1979 with Spink & Son Ltd. that was later absorbed into Christie's auction house), four-armed Goddess, possibly Sarada (9th century CE, was with Perry and Basha Lewis and donated in 1984), mask of Vaikuntha Vishnu (late 5th century, donated in 2004), Shiva and Parvati with their sons Karthikeya and Ganesha (9th century CE, donated in 1989), diadem with Kinnaris (half-bird, half-female creatures, 9th-10th century CE, donated in 1988) and Gaja Lakshmi (8th century CE, donated in 1989) among others.

The acceptance/purchase and continued exhibition of unprovenanced Indian and in this case Kashmiri artefacts by The Metropolitan Museum goes against Indian and international legislations aimed at combating illicitly trafficked antiquities, especially from conflict zones. These are not just conflict antiquities but blood antiquities.

(The India Pride Project's #BringOurGodsHome initiative has helped bring many stolen idols back to our country) (tj.episteme@gmail.com)

(L) Kamadeva sculpture from Kashmir purchased by the Met museum from indicted art smuggler Subhash Kapoor's gallery; (M) Ekamukalinga and (R) Buddha's descent sculptures from Kashmir now in the same museum. They too lack proper provenances

Blinded by hubris

The urge shown by the LDF government in Kerala to go ahead with the SilverLine rail project despite stiff opposition from scientists, environmental groups, opposition political parties and the common man is uncalled for and bewildering. Winning a historic second term has emboldened the chief minister, who now seems to be blinded by hubris. Unless all details of the project including the total cost, economic viability, land acquisition, compensation, rehabilitation, alignment route map and buffer zone are made clear, the Centre is justified in seeking further clarifications (Centre in no mood to budge. Is it red signal for SilverLine? Mar 25). The LDF has changed its stripes from an acolyte of the poor to the current autocratic avatar. Blju C Mathew, Thiruvananthapuram

Rethink SilverLine

Your editorial Kerala Govt must stop SilverLine intimidation (Mar 25) has meticulously covered almost every aspect of the present situation of the project. My sincere appreciation for the write-up, and I hope better counsel will prevail and the authorities concerned have a rethink. It may be recalled that against the estimate of ₹63,941 crore for the project, the Railway minister himself has announced in Rajya Sabha that the cost will go beyond ₹1,00,000 crore. Under such circumstances, the project should be abandoned forthwith. MT Thomas, Peruvu

Farewell Captain MSD

Leading an IPL team in 12 seasons, entering the final nine times and lifting the coveted trophy four times are no mean achievements and M S Dhoni, who has relinquished the captaincy of the Chennai Super Kings, has much to be proud of (King bids goodbye to throne, Mar 25). Unlike the former Royal Challengers Bangalore skipper Virat Kohli, who still has plenty of gas left in the tank but still chose to quit the captaincy of the franchise, Dhoni is at the fag end of an illustrious career and is almost on the verge of bidding adieu to all forms of cricket. Ravindra Jadeja is the future of CSK. He is a consummate team man and arguably the best all-rounder in the game today. CV Aravind, Bengaluru

Pandits need justice

I read with interest the write-up on The Kashmir Files (With Kashmir film, the pseudo-secular dam has now burst, Mar 23). After reading this article, I got better clarity. I think the word secularism is the most misinterpreted and misunderstood by the people. The false contentions of those who oppose the movie have been well rebutted. Justice must be rendered to the affected and the culprits must be legally dealt with. P Prema, Thanjavur

Saffron splash, seers, VVIPs at Yogi swearing-in

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IN eastern UP, they say it's not Yogi Adityanath who needs BJP to win elections, but it's BJP which needs him. The saying came true again in Lucknow on Friday, when the party threw its weight behind making Yogi's coronation an event not to be forgotten in a hurry.

It was a splash of saffron at the Bharat Ratna Atal Bihari Vajpayee Stadium, which had a crowd of over 70,000 shouting 'Modi' and 'Yogi' slogans. As thousands of BJP supporters and workers started arriving hours in advance, heavy contingents of CISE, BSF and CMPF were deployed. There was a galaxy of VVIPs, including PM Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and chief ministers of BJP-ruled states, its allies and a battery of cabinet ministers.

Adityanath had invited over 50 priests and seers, including prominent members of the Ram Janmabhoomi Trust, which is overseeing the construction of the temple in Ayodhya, as well as priests from Varanasi, Mathura and Vrindavan. Calling it nothing less than a festival, the saints and seers, who had thronged the venue in large numbers, said attending the swearing-in ceremony was a matter of pride.

A rainbow of UP's cultural heritage was on display with singers, dancers and folk artists gathering in large numbers. Big names of Bhojpur cinema including Ravi Kishan, BJP's Gorakhpur MP, Dinesh Lal Yadav Niruah enthralled the public with their colourful performances.

SC Pegasus panel seeks comments from public

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE technical committee constituted by the Supreme Court for investigating the alleged use of Pegasus spyware has sought comments from the public on 11 queries.

The questionnaire can be filled online at <https://pegasus-india-investigation.in/invitation-to-comment/> on or before March 31. The top court had set up the committee in October 2021 under retired Supreme Court judge R V Raveendran.

The questionnaire has sought people's views on whether the existing boundaries of state surveillance of personal and private communications of citizens, for the purposes of national security, defence of India, maintenance of public order and prevention and investigation of offences are well defined and understood. It also asks about the sufficiency of the procedures currently defined under the Telegraph Act, 1885, and the Information Technology Act, 2000 (including executive oversight measures), to prevent the excessive routine use, misuse or abuse of state surveillance, justified for the reasons mentioned above.

One of the questions asked is if there should be special safeguards for specific categories of persons. If so, what categories of persons should these cover and what form should these take?

The questionnaire also seeks to know if the state should be obliged to record or disclose surveillance technology that it has access to or has used for the purposes of national security, who this information should be disclosed to and in what form. It has further asked if this information should be available under the purview of Right to Information.

Appeal on PM Cares Fund not entertained

New Delhi: The Supreme Court has refused to entertain a petition challenging the validity of PM Cares Fund. A bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao and BR Gavai asked the petitioner to withdraw the plea and approach Allahabad High Court with a review petition. The petition said since PM Cares is a public authority, the trust is bound to make the statement of its accounts, activities and expenditure, public.

Specially abled can apply for service

New Delhi: The Supreme Court has allowed candidates with physical disabilities, who have cleared civil services written exams, to provisionally apply to the Union Public Service Commission for selection to Indian Railways Protection Force Service, Indian Police Service & Delhi, Daman & Diu, Dadra and Nagar Haveli, Andaman and Nicobar Islands and Lakshadweep Police Service. Authorities were asked to receive applications.

No additional bid at UPSC, Centre tells court

New Delhi: The Central government has informed the Supreme Court that additional attempts at Union Public Service Commission main examinations are not possible. The court was conveyed this during the course of the hearing on a plea by three civil service aspirants who missed out on mains because they were Covid-19 positive. Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhat told the court that additional attempts are not possible and Centre has filed a counter affidavit in the matter. The court will hear the matter on March 28.

Emirates full service in India from April 1

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

WITH the Central government allowing all international flight operations to resume from March 27, Gulf carrier Emirates on Friday announced to reintroduce its pre-pandemic service frequency across its destinations in India beginning from April 1.

Emirates will operate 170 weekly flights from nine cities. These 170 weekly flights include 35 services to Mumbai, 28 to Delhi, 24 to Bengaluru, 21 each to Chennai and Hyderabad, 14 to Kochi, 11 to Kolkata, nine to Ahmedabad and seven to Thiruvananthapuram, Emirates said in a statement.

Meanwhile, the UAE has revised its Covid travel protocol in response to positive indicators that the emirate has entered the pandemic recovery phase. Fully vaccinated inbound passengers from India are no longer required to take an RT-PCR test before boarding flights at Indian airports. They must still present vaccination certificate with a readable QR Code upon arrival.

President's Colour bestowed on naval ship Valsura

New Delhi: In recognition of the services rendered by the Indian Naval Ship (INS) Valsura, the President of India on Friday presented the President's Colour to the unit. Indian Navy in a statement said, "Ram Nath Kovind, the President of India, presented the prestigious President's Colour to INS Valsura. The 'Nishan Adhikari' Lt Arun Singh Sambyal received the President's Colour on behalf of the unit, in an impressive parade." The unit paraded a 150-man Guard of Honour for the President. Over 800 Officers and men of INS Valsura, looking spectacular in their ceremonial dresses, marched proudly to the tunes of the Naval Band. ENS

Indian Navy signs contract with L&T to manufacture multi-purpose vessels

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

IN a major step towards engaging the private Indian Shipbuilding Industry on a large scale, the Ministry of Defence on Friday signed a contract with a private company to manufacture Multi-Purpose Vessels (MPVs). It will be a first of its kind platform, constructed to provide cost-effective solutions to meet a variety of requirements of the Indian Navy.

Informing of the development, Indian Navy in a statement said, "Ministry of Defence has signed a contract with Larsen & Toubro (L&T) Limited for acquisition of two MPVs for Indian Navy at an overall cost of ₹887 crore under the 'Buy-Indian' category."

The contract was signed in the presence of Vice Admiral

SN Ghormade, Vice Chief of the Naval Staff, and Pankaj Agarwal, Additional Secretary and Director General, Acquisition. Delivery of vessels is scheduled to commence from May 2025. These vessels, to be built at L&T shipyard at Kattupally (near Chennai), will perform multi-role support functions such as maritime surveillance and patrol, launching/recovery of torpedoes and operation of various types of aerial, surface and underwater targets for gunnery/anti submarine warfare firing exercises. These vessels would be capable of towing ships and rendering humanitarian assistance and disaster relief with a limited hospital ship capability.

India is actively working to reduce its import of defence arms and equipment.

Voting right for Indians abroad in consideration

Law minister informs Lok Sabha there are proposals to link Aadhaar with electoral rolls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE government is considering proposals to link Aadhaar card with electoral rolls to check fraudulent voting and give online voting rights to Indians working abroad, Union Law Minister Kiren Rijiju said in Lok Sabha on Friday.

The minister said electoral fraud is a serious matter and the government is considering steps to curb this.

"Linking Aadhaar with the electoral roll is one of the ways. As of now, linking Aadhaar with electoral rolls is voluntary. Our aim is to ensure 'one nation, one electoral roll' to check double names in electoral rolls, check fraudulent voting and ensure a clean voting process," he said.

On the proposal to grant voting rights to Indians working abroad, Rijiju said the government has suggested to the Election Commission to look into the how this can be done. "But before taking any decision, we have to ensure safety and transparency of the process."

To a question raised by Congress MP Manish Tewari

whether the source code of the Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) remains with the company, which manufactures the EVMs or is it passed on to the poll panel, the minister said no one should question EVMs.

"Judges are appointed by government but once they are appointed, they become independent. No one should question the EVMs and there should not be any inference either," Rijiju said.

When the Congress leader insisted that he did not get a proper reply, Speaker Om Birla intervened and said Indian democracy and its electoral process is highly praised the world over. "When I travel abroad, people say they have not seen such a good system in such a big country and everyone should appreciate the system," he said.

The law minister added that India's election system has been termed as the best in the world. To another question, he there is no proposal under consideration to enact a law to make voting compulsory. He added that the government cannot force those who are in jails to cast their votes.

NEW MOVE

ASI to set up special Archive Division at its headquarters

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

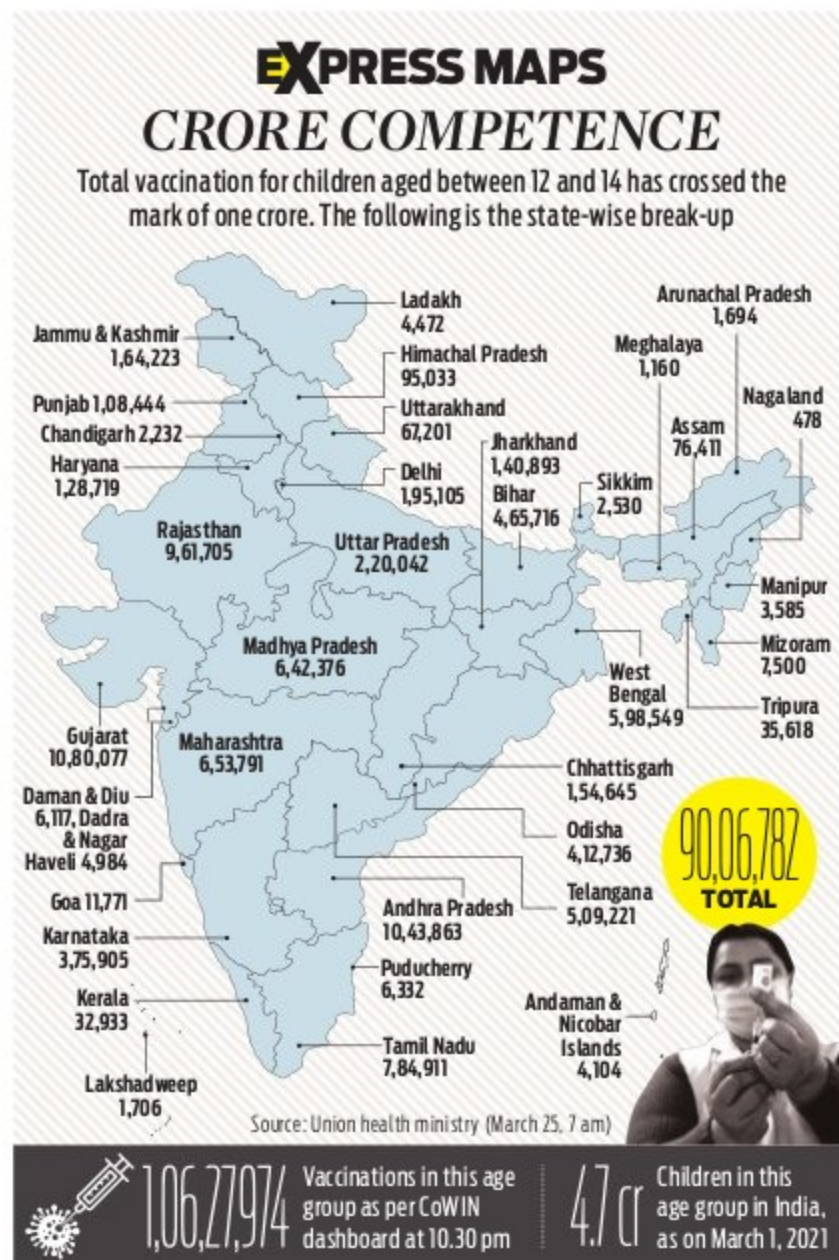

THE Archeological Survey of India (ASI) is likely to initiate an exercise to archive old records of historical significance and artefacts stacked mainly at six circles (sub offices in states) — Agra, Mumbai, Bangalore, Kolkata, Vadodara and Bhopal. After sorting and making adequate provisions for preservation, the collection will be placed at the Archive Division proposed at the ASI headquarters in Delhi.

Officials in the know said a consultant has been engaged, who would be overseeing the creation of the division, and inspect materials, artefacts, and other records or documents lying with the circles.

Tassadaque Hussain, who was the deputy director at National Archives of India, has been engaged as Consultant (Archives) on a full-time basis to assist the project (Archive Division), said an official.

The sub offices and headquarters of ASI have a huge assortment of rare manuscripts, maps, sketches, drawings, paintings, handwritten notes, lithographs and images related to monuments and historical buildings, under its custodianship. There are more than 3,600 heritage sites and structures under ASI's jurisdiction.

The collection is a resource of information about Indian architecture, archaeology and practices for conservation and restoration in vogue in that era, which is helpful for researchers and heritage enthusiasts. The public doesn't have access to those rare and antique historical records. The Delhi circle has a repository of antique cameras among other objects.

BJP hungry for power, jail me if you like: Uddhav

Maharashtra CM says saffron party using agencies to target his relatives, Sena cadres

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray finally broke his silence over the Enforcement Directorate's action against his brother-in-law in a money laundering case. Thackeray alleged the saffron party is hungry for power and therefore making allegations after allegations against his government and targeting his relatives and Shiv Sainiks.

"If they (BJP) want power I am ready to give it to them. But first, they should put me in jail on the charges that they are making. I am saying I will go with you. Not for power. The things you are doing now, defaming my family members, seizing their assets, I am not afraid of such actions," the CM said.

"If the BJP wants to fight against us, they should come in open and fight, instead of using agencies to target the families. This is not bravery. We never targeted anyone's family members. We never brought out your family's issues in public," the Maharashtra CM said.

Referring to the epic Ramayana, Thackeray said similar to Ravan's life was concentrated at his nabhi (navel) the BJP's existence is focused on Mumbai even though the party is in power at the Centre. "India Gandhi imposed a declared emergency but today in our country there is an undeclared emergency. The Central agencies are being misused to target the opposition parties. Agencies are working as ghar gadi (household workers). BJP leaders first make the allegation, the ED takes the action," Thackeray said.

Defending jailed minister Nawab Malik, Thackeray said if Devendra Fadnavi's "morning swearing experiment" had succeeded, then Malik and Anil Deshmukh would have his (Fadnavi's) cabinet colleagues today. "We are not sharing power with the BJP therefore we are deliberately targeted. When we were with the BJP, no one raised any issues or targeted our families," he said.

If the BJP wants to fight against us, they should come in open and fight, instead of using agencies to target the families. We never targeted anyone's family members

Nitish to take call on ally's cabinet post

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

POLITICAL circles in Bihar are abuzz with speculation about Vikassheel Insaan Party (VIP) chief and animal husbandry and fisheries resources minister Mukesh Sahani being dropped from the council of minister of the NDA government led by Chief Minister Nitish Kumar soon.

The missing of the nameplate of Sahani from the official residence on Strand Road in the high security zone on Friday in the state capital gave credence to this belief. Sahani was allotted the bungalow after being made a cabinet minister in the Nitish government.

Sahani refused to resign from the post of minister after all the three MLAs of his party quit and joined the BJP. He has put the ball in the court of the chief minister Nitish Kumar.

"I will abide by the decision taken by the chief minister," Sahani told the media when asked about the BJP's demand for his resignation from the cabinet minister's post on moral grounds. "It is the discretion of the CM who to include in the cabinet."

Sources in the BJP said a decision on Sahani's fate will be taken after Nitish Kumar's meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union minister Amit Sah at the swearing-in ceremony of Yogi Adityanath as the chief minister of UP in Lucknow on Friday.

Craft mela showcases Kashmir handicrafts

The tourist resort of Pahalgam in south Kashmir is hosting a craft fair showcasing the exquisite art and craft of the Valley. The exhibition is jointly organised by the Development Commissioner (Handlooms) and the Directorate of Handicrafts & Handlooms Kashmir. The 14-day exhibition will showcase the finest crafts from Kashmir including Pashmina and Kani. The exhibition will give artisans a suitable marketing platform to sell their products directly to the buyers and give tourists visiting Pahalgam an opportunity to get a glimpse of the rich art and crafts of Kashmir. The attraction of the fair is the live demonstration of various crafts.

Mann says Punjab MLAs will get pension only for one term

CM Bhagwant Mann addresses the Punjab Vidhan Sabha session on Tuesday | PTI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chandigarh

PUNJAB Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Friday said former MLAs will now get pension for only one term, doing away with the practice of legislators drawing the benefit for each term they served.

Besides getting a pension of ₹75,150 for one term, the MLAs in Punjab are given an additional 66 per cent of the pension amount for every subsequent term.

"MLAs from across the spectrum go to people with folded hands, seeking votes in the name of doing their service. But when they lose the elections or are not given a ticket,

Action on complaint

Mann said he has received a complaint on the newly launched anti-corruption helpline. "I received a complaint on our helpline. Directed the authorities for immediate investigation," the CM tweeted they still get lakhs of rupees per month as pension. You will be shocked that those who have been elected as MLAs for three, four, five or even six terms have been taking away lakhs as pension and some of them don't even come to the Assembly. Some of them get pension in range of ₹3.50 lakh to ₹5.25 lakh. This burdens the state exchequer. Some of these politicians have even served as MPs and get that pension as well."

"Former MLAs in Punjab, irrespective of the number of times they have won, will now get pension for a single term. Family allowances will also be reduced," said Mann.

In all, 325 former MLAs in the state are getting pension. Five-time former CM Parkash Singh Badal has already announced to forgo his pension. Had he not done so, he would have drawn ₹5.76 lakh. Former CM Rajinder Kaur Bhattal, While Congress leader Lal Singh draws a pension of ₹3.25 lakh, senior Akali leader BS Bhunder draws ₹2.75 lakh.

Punjab power plants hit by coal woes

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

WITH coal in short supply and therefore witnessing an unprecedented surge in prices, a power crisis is looming in Punjab even as demand for electricity has already touched an all-time high of 8,000 MW. The state is buying power at high rates to meet the demand.

All three private power plants in the state have coal stocks for only a week or less, as against the norm of stocking up for 28 days. As of Wednesday, even the state-owned thermal plants at Lehra Mohabbat and Ropar had stocks for 18.4 and 16.4 days, respectively.

Sources in Punjab State Power Corporation Ltd said inadequate supply of coal is a major worry. "The problem will worsen in monsoon when supplies get hindered due to flooding of the mines," said an official.

The PSPCL has already asked the private thermal plants to increase their reserves. The coal mine at Pachhwara owned by the corporation is also being operationalised. But supplies will start only by May.

The coal shortage has had a direct impact on costs of power. Electricity prices at the open exchange have increased by 151% compared to last year. On March 14, 2021, the price was ₹3.17 per unit while this year it stood at ₹9 per unit.

Sources said since the European Union countries are buying more coal from international markets due to the Ukraine war, the prices of imported coal have also gone up manifold. Hence, the thermal plants in the state are now dependent on Coal India Limited and its subsidiaries for supplies. The CIL is selling coal through e-auctions and the prices have gone up by 340% and the railway is seeking a 15 per cent premium to prioritise coal transport.

Baghel, Gehlot meet

Amid a looming power crisis due to depleting coal stocks in Rajasthan, CM Ashok Gehlot on Friday met his Chhattisgarh counterpart Bhupesh Baghel in Raipur seeking to expedite opening of coal blocks.

Will 'double engine' help Dhami's civil code move?

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

AFTER the Pushkar Singh Dhama cabinet announced a committee to look into the implementation of the Uniform Civil Code in Uttarakhand, legal experts say the road ahead isn't easy.

Article 44 of the Constitution allows states to implement the UCC, but Centre has accord it the final approval.

"The UCC's practical aspect has some complications at the state level," says Dr K H Gupta, a senior lawyer. Analysts, however, say that with the "double engine" BJP government, the implementation part would be a bit easier.

"The BJP wants to tell the people that it is true to its word and will fulfill its promises. The chief minister had made the announcement only two days before the Assembly election. The BJP won 47 seats out of 70 in Uttarakhand. Chief Minister Dhama is doing exactly what he had promised," said Dehradun-based political analyst Jai

Singh Rawat.

Dhama on Thursday approved the formation of a committee that will go into implementation of the UCC.

The Dhama cabinet made the decision in its first cabinet meeting after taking oath on Wednesday.

In February, ahead of the Assembly election in the Himalayan state, Dhama had announced that if the BJP retained power, a committee comprising legal experts, retired legal experts, intellectuals, and other stakeholders would be constituted to implement the UCC.

Senior Congress leader Kapil Sibal responding to the announcement advised the chief minister to get legal advice and not embarrass himself and his party. "Pushkar S Dhama, please don't embarrass your party and yourself when you make announcements about implementing the Uniform Civil Code in Uttarakhand if BJP comes to power. You need some legal advice," Sibal had tweeted.

Maha govt's decision to give flats to MLAs receives flak

Mumbai: The Maharashtra government's decision to provide 300 'high-income group' flats to MLAs and MLCs has stirred up a row. Housing minister Jitendra Ahwad on Thursday announced that spacious flats would be built for elected representatives in the western suburb of Mumbai. After some opposition parties raised objection to the government's decision, Ahwad on Friday clarified that the beneficiary MLAs will have to pay certain amount to take possession of the flats. "We are not giving houses to MLAs free of cost. We are going to charge 70 lakh as construction and land cost from each MLA," the minister said. MNS MLA Raju Patil had opposed the government's decision. "Common man can't afford a house in Mumbai and the government is giving houses to MLA at a cheap rate. It should be stopped and instead, the government should waive off electricity bills of people up to 200 units," Patil said. ENS

Agnihotri proposes 'genocide museum' in MP, video stirs row

Bhopal: Controversy erupted in Bhopal on Friday just before 'The Kashmir Files' director Vivek Agnihotri arrived to attend a film festival in the state capital. A recent interview of Agnihotri in which he is seen saying "Bhopali means homosexual" had been going viral on social media since the morning, triggering protests. "I've grown up in Bhopal, but I'm not a Bhopali, as Bhopali has a different connotation. I'll explain it to you some other time privately, but you can ask any Bhopali about it. If someone says he is a Bhopali, it generally means he is a homosexual or has Nawabi Shauk (Nawabi liking)," Agnihotri was seen saying in the interview, which was tweeted among others, by the ex-MP CM Digvijaya Singh. Amid the controversy, Agnihotri appealed to MP CM to help him establish a 'genocide museum' in the city. The request got immediate response from the CM who promptly announced land and other support for establishing the museum.

5.9K houses in Srinagar get smart power meters

In a first, about 5,900 households of Srinagar have been connected with smart electricity meters. According to officials, feeders Peerbagh 02, Rawalpura F-05 and Rawalpura F-04 in Srinagar will now get 24x7 power supply as these areas have been equipped with smart meters. Earlier, 6,603 households in Jammu had been fitted with smart meters. The Power Development Department plans to install three lakh smart meters each in Srinagar and Jammu cities this year. Officials said installation of smart meters would prevent power theft and also help the government provide round-the-clock electricity to customers.

Equipment worth ₹14.5 cr provided to firemen

Latest fire tenders and fire rescue equipment worth ₹14.5 crore have been provided to the Fire and Emergency Services Department under the World Bank-funded Jhelum Tawi Flood Recovery Project. The equipment would help the department to revamp its fleet of fire tenders and strengthen its capacity to undertake rescue works. Equipment like multipurpose fire tenders, quick response vehicles, hydraulic spreader tools, fire entry suits, fire proximity suits and breathing apparatus sets have been provided to firemen. The multipurpose fire tenders have a water carrying capacity of 5,000 litres and can also be loaded with 500 litres of foam.

Goitre survey among children in four districts

The Department of Community Medicine (SPM) of Government Medical College (GMC) Srinagar is conducting an iodine deficiency disorders (goitre) survey among children in the age group of 6-12 years in government and private schools and out-of-school children in four districts of Kashmir. The survey is being conducted in Bandipora, Ganderbal, Kupwara and Shopian districts. The teams from Community Medicine department of GMC Srinagar shall be visiting 30 clusters, each covering 90 boys and girls in pre-puberty age groups, covering 2,700 children per district. A total of 10,800 children will be enrolled in the study in four districts in Kashmir. Every child enrolled in the study would be examined for any goitre that is enlargement of thyroid gland in the neck as per classification by the WHO.

Biden in Poland; Ukraine fears 300 dead in theatre attack

US president compares Russian invasion to China's crushing of protests in Tiananmen Square; Strikes targeting a medical facility in Kharkiv kill four civilians

RZESZOW

US PRESIDENT Joe Biden came up-close to the war in Ukraine on Friday after forging a new set of measures with Europe designed to place a tighter squeeze on Russia's tottering, energy-rich economy.

Biden visited Poland as a clearer scale of the ruin emerged from Ukraine's besieged port city of Mariupol, which a month into the invasion now resembles World War II scenes of Russian cities razed by the Nazis. Authorities said some 300 civilians may have died in a Russian air strike on a theatre-turned-bomb shelter in Mariupol last week, in what would be the invasion's single bloodiest attack.

For days, the government in Mariupol was unable to give a casualty count for the March 16 attack. In announcing the death toll on its Telegram channel on Friday, it cited eyewitnesses. But it was not immediately clear whether emergency workers had finished excavating the ruins of the Mariupol Drama Theatre or how witnesses arrived at the figure.

Speaking during his visit to Poland near the border with Ukraine, Biden compared Russia's invasion of the eastern European to China's crushing of protests in Tiananmen Square in 1989.

Biden also referred to Russian President Vladimir Putin as "a man who I think is a war criminal." "And I think we'll meet the legal definition of that as well," the US president said. Biden spoke at meetings with US soldiers stationed in Poland close to the border and with aid workers helping to deal with the massive refugee crisis caused by the conflict in Ukraine.

The US president said he would have liked to see the devastation caused by the conflict "first hand". "They won't let me, understandably I guess, cross the border," he said.

Biden praised Ukrainians for showing "backbone" in their resistance against Russia, giving the example of "a 30-year-old woman standing there in front of a tank with a rifle". "I mean, talk about what happened to Tiananmen Square. This is Tiananmen Square squared," he said.

Battle continues

Meanwhile, smaller-scale strikes continued without pause as Russia, suffering heavy losses and meagre progress against key targets, pursues a relentless campaign of bombardment against Ukraine's cities. In the east, Russian strikes targeting a medical facility in Ukraine's second city Kharkiv killed four civilians and wounded several others, police said.

Several residents said cluster munitions were used in Kharkiv, spraying death indiscriminately.

Earlier, after summits of NATO, the European Union and G7 in Brussels, Biden warned that the NATO alliance would "respond" if Russian President Vladimir Putin resorts next to chemical weapons. En route to Poland, National Security Adviser Jake Sullivan said Russia would pay a "severe price" — but stressed "the United States has no intention of using chemical weapons, period, under any circumstance".

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov accused Biden of seeking to "divert attention", and also denied Ukrainian claims that Russia had broken international law by dropping incendiary phosphorus bombs on civilians. Agencies

Brazil opposed to ejecting Russia from G20: Minister

Brasilia: Brazil is "clearly opposed" to barring Russia from the G20, the south American country's foreign minister said, as the US led a push to exclude Moscow from the group over its invasion of Ukraine. "We've seen initiatives emerge in various international organisations... to expel or suspend Russia. Brazil is clearly opposed to those initiatives, in line with our traditional position in favor of multilateralism and international law," Foreign Minister Carlos Franco told a Senate session. AFP

Russia seeks Donbas 'liberation'

Moscow: The Russian army says the first phase of its military campaign in Ukraine was over and troops would now focus on the complete "liberation" of the eastern Donbas region. "The combat potential of Ukraine's armed forces has been significantly reduced, which allows (us)... to focus our main efforts on achieving the main goal -- the liberation of Donbas," a senior representative of the General Staff, Sergei Rudskoi, said. Ukrainians who can't flee face severe food shortage

KHARKIV

AS RUSSIA relentlessly besieges and pummels Ukraine's cities, nearly anyone who can is trying to leave and those left behind face desperate food shortages in a country once known as the breadbasket for the world.

In the shelled city of Kharkiv, mostly elderly women came to collect food and other urgent supplies. In the capital of Kyiv, ashes of the dead are piling up at the main crematorium because so many relatives have left, leaving urns unclaimed.

For civilians unable to join the flood of refugees from Ukraine, the days of plenty in the country are becoming just a fading memory, as the war grinds into a second month.

US and the European Union announced a move to further squeeze Russia — a new partnership to reduce Europe's reliance on Russian energy and slowly squeeze off the billions of dollars the Kremlin gets from sales of fossil fuels. In Ukraine, the war for hungry civilians is increasingly being counted in precious portions of food, and block of cheese now goes a very long way.

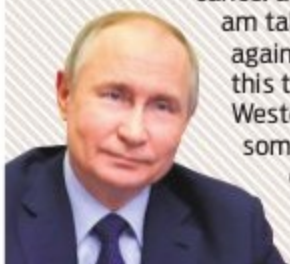

President Volodymyr Zelenskyy urged his country to keep up its military defence and not stop "even for a minute." Zelenskyy used his nightly video address to rally Ukrainians to "move toward peace, move forward." AP

Russian army says 1,351 soldiers killed in Ukraine

Moscow: The Russian army on Friday updated its losses in Ukraine to 1,351 soldiers, while saying that it had evacuated more than 400,000 civilians and condemning Western supplies of weapons to Kyiv. At a Moscow briefing, senior military officials gave the first update on Russian deaths in weeks, adding that 3,825 soldiers had been wounded. AFP

Putin slams 'attacks on Russian culture'

Moscow: President Vladimir Putin on Friday slammed the West for discriminating against Russian culture, which he likened to Nazi supporters burning books in the 1930s. "Today they are trying to cancel a thousand-year-old country," Putin said. "I am talking about the progressive discrimination against everything connected with Russia, about this trend that is unfolding in a number of Western states, with the full connivance and sometimes with the encouragement of Western elites," Putin added. "The proverbial 'cancel culture' has become a cancellation of culture," Putin said. AFP

Pak assembly adjourned without taking up no-confidence motion

Imran Khan | AFP

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN National Assembly's crucial session on a no-trust motion against embattled Prime Minister Imran Khan was adjourned on Friday without voting of the resolution, amid vociferous protests from opposition lawmakers.

National Assembly Speaker Asad Qaiser said the session was adjourned till 4pm on March 28 due to the demise of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf lawmaker Khayal Zaman on February 14. According to Pakistan's Parliamentary conventions, the first sitting after the death of a lawmaker is limited to the prayers for the departed soul and tributes from fellow lawmakers. Several prominent opposition members, including Leader of the Opposition in National Assembly Shehbaz Sharif, Pakistan Peoples' Party Chairman Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari and co-chair Asif Ali Zardari were in the Parliament House on Friday to participate in the much-anticipated session.

As Speaker Qaiser adjourned the session, opposition leaders started protesting, requesting him to take up the motion but the speaker did not turn their microphones on and retired to his chamber.

The speaker said the decision on taking up the no-confidence motion would be taken in the next session. The voting on the resolution should be held at least three to seven days after it has been laid before the National Assembly, according to rules. The National Assembly Secretariat had on Thursday issued a 15-point 'Orders of the Day' for the NA session, which included the no-confidence resolution.

Addressing a press conference outside Parliament House shortly after the session was adjourned, PML-N President Shehbaz Sharif warned that if the no-confidence motion was not allowed to move on Monday, then they would not be responsible for what would come next. "Asad Qaiser acted as a PTI worker instead of the National Assembly speaker," he said, adding that the opposition would resort to legal and constitutional protests if Qaiser tried to "act as a slave of (Khan)". Lanka papers run out of newsprint as crisis bites

COLOMBO

TWO major Sri Lanka newspapers are suspending their print editions because of a lack of paper, their owner said on Friday, the latest casualties in the island's economic crisis.

The country of 22 million people is facing its worst economic meltdown since independence from Britain in 1948 after its foreign reserves hit rock bottom.

Privately owned Upali Newspapers said their English-language daily, The Island, and its sister Sinhalese version, Divaina, will only be available online "in view of the prevailing newsprint shortage".

Other main national dailies have also reduced pages after costs soared by over a third in the past five months and because of difficulties securing supplies from abroad.

School tests for nearly three million out of Sri Lanka's 4.5 million pupils were postponed indefinitely last week after the authorities failed to source enough paper and ink.

The dollar shortage has sparked energy shortages affecting all sectors and led to skyrocketing prices with inflation at a record 17.5% in February, the fifth consecutive monthly high.

Motorists have to queue up at gasoline pumps and at least four people have died in the past week while waiting long hours to top up.

Energy ministry officials said they managed to raise $42 million by Friday to pay for a cargo of diesel and aviation fuel held up at the Colombo port for nearly two weeks because there were no dollars to pay for it.

Earlier this month, the government allowed the rupee to depreciate and announced it will seek an IMF bailout to restructure its foreign debt. AFP

Second black box of crashed plane not yet found

Beijing: The second black box of the crashed Chinese passenger plane is yet to be found, official media reported on Friday, retracting an earlier announcement that it has been recovered from the crash site. The state-run China Daily had reported earlier quoting the Civil Aviation Administration of China that the second black box has been recovered. However, it quoted a report by state-run news agency Xinhua that the second black box had not been found. The black box could offer vital clues about the crash in which 132 people are feared to have died. PTI

Teen falls to death from US amusement park ride

Orlando: A 14-year-old boy fell to death from a ride at an amusement park in Florida. The incident occurred late on Thursday at Icon Park located in the city's tourist district. The boy fell from the Orlando Free Fall ride, which opened late last year. He was taken to a hospital, where he died, sheriff's officials said. "We are absolutely saddened by what happened," said John Stine, sales director with the Slingshot Group which owns the ride. AFP

Israel to host top Arab diplomats

Jerusalem: Israel said on Friday it would host the foreign ministers of the United Arab Emirates, Morocco and Bahrain during US Secretary of State Antony Blinken's visit early next week. The three Arab countries normalised relations with Israel in 2020 in the so-called Abraham Accords. Israel's Foreign Ministry said it would host the four top diplomats on Sunday and Monday, with additional details to be provided later. AFP

FEMALE MINISTERS DISAPPOINTED

Taliban urged to rethink decision on girls' edu

BERLIN

FEMALE foreign ministers from 16 countries around the world said on Friday they are "deeply disappointed" that Afghan girls are being denied access to secondary schools and called on the Taliban to reverse their decision.

Afghanistan's Taliban rulers unexpectedly decided against reopening schools on Wednesday to girls above the sixth grade, reneging on a promise and opting to appease their hard-line base at the expense of further alienating the international community. So far, they have refused to explain the sudden decision.

"As women and as foreign ministers, we are deeply disappointed and concerned that girls in Afghanistan are being denied access to secondary schools this spring," the foreign ministers of Albania, Andorra, Australia, Belgium, Bosnia, Canada, Estonia, Germany, Iceland, Kosovo, Malawi, Mongolia, New Zealand, Sweden, Tonga and Britain said in a joint statement. They said the decision "is particularly disturbing as we repeatedly heard their commitments to open all schools for all children."

"We call upon the Taliban to reverse their recent decision and to grant equal access to all levels of education, in all provinces of the country," they added. The world has been reluctant to officially recognise Afghanistan's new rulers, concerned the Taliban would impose similar harsh measures and restrictions "particularly limiting women's rights to education and work" as when they previously ruled the country in the late 1990s. The ministers said they "watch closely whether the Taliban deliver on their assurances". AP

ONDC launch in April; 10 cos set to roll out products

Paytm, Phone Pe, Dunzo and Go Frugal, among the 10 companies

DIPAK MONDAL & UMA KANNAN
@ New Delhi/Bengaluru

THE Open Network Digital Commerce (ONDC) – the UPI equivalent of e-commerce – is all set to be launched in April with 10 companies fully integrated with the ONDC framework.

“We will do a soft launch in April in five cities – Bengaluru, Delhi, Bhopal, Coimbatore and Shillong. As many as 10 companies are in the advanced stage of rolling out their products based on the ONDC framework within April,” Anil Agarwal, additional secretary, Department of promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT), said in an exclusive interaction with TNIE. The 10 companies include Paytm, Phone Pe, Dunzo, Go Frugal, and Good Box.

The government is planning massive expansion of the network in the next three-four months. According to Agarwal, as many as 80 big companies are in active discussion with the government to be part of the platform.

“These companies are coming on their own because they see value in ONDC. It makes tremendous business sense for them to be part of this network.”

ONDC was formed in December last year to create an open public digital infrastructure to transform the digital commerce ecosystem in India. At present, the e-commerce space is dominated by big players such as Amazon, Flipkart and Reliance, apart from many new entrants in this space.

ONDC received an early investment from the Quality Council of India (QCI) and Pro-ten eGov Technologies Limited. There are 20 big and large companies which have agreed to take equity in ONDC, which is a non-profit company (Section 8) company.

SBI has picked 7.84% stake in the open network for ₹10 crore. Kotak Mahindra Bank, HDFC Bank and Axis Bank have also acquired 7.84% stake. Small Industries Development Bank of India (SIDBI) and public sector lender Punjab National Bank are the latest entrants to acquire a stake in (ONDC). They both picked up 7.84% and 5.97% stake for Rs 10 crore each.

Agarwal says Once a retailer gets on the ONDC app, he actually does not get registered with a particular platform but he gets registered with a common ONDC registry.

Fuel price hike: FM ‘invokes’ Nehru

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

UNDER attack from the opposition over increase in fuel prices, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman ‘invoked’ the country’s first prime minister Jawahar Lal Nehru to justify the hikes.

Sitharaman read Nehru’s speech from the 1950s in Hindi, where the former prime minister had blamed the Korean War for inflation in the country. She argued that if Nehru could blame a war in Korea for the rise in prices in the 1950s, when India was not as well connected with the world as now, why would the Russia-Ukraine war not impact prices today.

The finance minister was responding to debates over the Finance Bill 2022 in Lok Sabha. The FM, however, hinted that the government has no role in increasing fuel prices and it is up to the oil marketing companies to decide the hike in price. She said that OMCs take a call on fuel price based on their 15-day average price. After keeping prices of petrol and diesel on hold for four months, the fuel retailers have increased cumulatively ₹2.40 in the country in the past one week. The price of petrol and diesel was on halt between 4 November, 2021 and 21, March 2022 in the country despite high crude prices in the international market.

Responding to discussion on the Finance Bill, the FM refuted the opposition allegation that the government is increasing the tax burden on common man. Taking a dig at Congress, the FM said it was the Indira Gandhi government in 1970 that had increased the marginal income tax rate to 93.5%. Meanwhile, on criticism that government is giving mixed signals on cryptocurrency, the finance minister said the matter is under discussion whether the government wants to regulate it or ban it. Once the consultation is over the government will make its stance clear.

After keeping prices of petrol and diesel on hold for 4 months, fuel retailers have increased cumulatively ₹2.40 in India in the past one week

Petrol, diesel price up by 80 p each; 3rd hike in a week

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

OIL MARKETING Companies (OMCs) on Friday again hiked prices of petrol and diesel by 80 paise each for the third time in a week.

Following the hike on Friday, petrol will now cost ₹97.81 and diesel will be available at ₹89.07 per litre in the national capital region (NCR).

In the last one week, the fuel retailers have increased cumulatively ₹2.40 in the country. The price of petrol and diesel was on halt between 4th November 2021 and 21st March 2022 in the country despite high crude prices in the International market.

During this period, the Brent Crude Future, the benchmark of global crude price, even touched the highest $139 per barrel on 7 March 2022.

The prices were then revised by the fuel retailers on both diesel and petrol by 80 paise per litre on 21 March and by the same amount again on 22 March.

Moody's Investors Service in its study highlighted that Oil Marketing Companies have lost around $2.25 billion in revenues from 5th November to 21st March.

This is the period when these retailers stopped revising fuel prices despite high crude prices in the international market.

Indian Oil Corporation (IOC), Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (BPCL) and Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited (HPCL) are incurring around $70 million in daily losses on petrol and diesel sales.

Thus, experts believe that the hike on transport fuel is on expected lines and, in fact, more hikes are expected.

“Retail fuel prices of petrol and diesel have been kept unchanged since November 2021, whereas global crude oil prices rose by close to $30 per barrel during this period. The pass-through of rising crude oil prices to domestic fuel prices is, therefore, inevitable, and further hikes can also be expected,” said Dipti Deshpande, Principal Economist, CRISIL.

Exchanges can offer commodity options

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

STOCK EXCHANGES running a commodity segment will be able to launch options on commodity indices. Capital markets regulator Sebi facilitated the launch of index options for the likes of MCX, NCDEX, NSE and BSE all of which run commodity segments.

The popular indices currently are MCX's BullDex, MetDex, EnrgDex and NCDEX's NKrishti. Exchanges offer futures on the indices. Options will offer participants a cheaper product with margin to trade being 1-2% of the price against 7-8% on index futures, said an exchange official.

“In an endeavour to have more products in the Commodity Derivatives Market and based on the recommendation of Commodity Derivatives Advisory Committee (CDAC) and proposal from Stock Exchanges, it has now been decided to permit recognised Stock Exchanges having a Commodity Derivative segment, to introduce options on commodity indices,” said a Sebi circular.

“One more product will be available to participants and that would deepen the market,” said an MCX official.

“The framework means exchanges can design and develop the new product and seek Sebi approval for launching the same,” said Rajesh Palviya, derivatives head at Axis Securities.

The Stock Exchanges with Commodity Derivatives segment are directed to take steps to make necessary amendments to the relevant bye-laws, rules and regulations for the implementation of the same.

THAILAND

CENTRAL BANK PLANS RULES ON VIRTUAL BANKS

Thailand's central bank said on Friday it is planning new policy guidelines for the banking sector, including virtual banks and open banking. The Bank of Thailand (BOT) will publish guidelines for a public hearing on a virtual bank licensing framework and for the sector's engagement in digital businesses by the second quarter of this year, it said in a statement. Directions on open banking policy will be announced in the third quarter of 2022, it said. The new guidelines will reflect previous recommendations from the central bank to reposition Southeast Asia's financial sector to serve a sustainable digital economy, it said. The news comes after S&P Global Ratings downgraded the ratings of four Thai banks: Siam Commercial Bank and Kasikorn Bank from BBB+ to BBB, and Krungthai Bank and TMB Thanachart Bank from BBB to BBB. It said systemic risk for Thai banks has risen on high leverage among borrowers and rising household debt.

JAPAN

MARCH ECO REPORT FLAGS INFLATION RISK FROM WAR

Japan needs to closely watch downside economic risks from rapid commodity inflation caused by the war in Ukraine and its disruption to the global energy supplies, the government said in a monthly report on Friday. The world's third-largest economy has yet to return to pre-pandemic levels as Covid-19 outbreaks and curbs hinder a consumption-led recovery. “As uncertainties around the situation in Ukraine loom, downside risks such as rising raw material prices, fluctuations in financial markets and supply constraints require full attention,” the government said. The report kept its main assessment of the economy unchanged from last month, saying its recovery was in progress although some vulnerabilities remained. One such weakness was the household sector, with the report repeating last month's assessment of private consumption as having stalled.

CHINA

TO MAINTAIN YUAN FLEXIBILITY

China's foreign exchange regulator said on Friday it will continue to maintain the flexibility of the yuan exchange rate, and actively prevent and defuse risks from external shocks. The trend of foreigners investing in China, and allocating yuan assets will not change, it said. Meanwhile, China expects a reasonable current account surplus this year. The comments come amid signs of heavy foreign outflows from Chinese markets since Russia launched war on Ukraine, as investors reckoned Beijing's friendship with Moscow could become a handicap the longer the conflict lasts. The growing policy divergence between a hawkish U.S. Federal Reserve, and a dovish People's Bank of China could also lead to money outflows. The State Administration of Foreign Exchange (SAFE) said on Friday it will strengthen macro-prudential management of cross-border capital flows.

Ola acquires fintech firm Avail Finance

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

RIDE-hailing platform Ola has entered into an agreement to acquire neo bank Avail Finance, which was founded by Ola co-founder Bhavish Aggarwal's brother Ankush Aggarwal along with Tushar Mehndiratta, in 2017.

Avail Finance provides financial services to the blue-collared workforce, and has over 6 million users.

Ola already has a 9% stake in Avail Finance.

The deal is subject to shareholder approval, and with this acquisition, Ola Financial Services will further strengthen its play in the credit underserved segments that comprises blue collar workers. Ola did not reveal the deal amount.

Ola Financial Services is a 100% subsidiary of Ola. Through this acquisition, Ola will leverage Avail Finance's products that will strengthen the ride-hailing firm's lending business.

“With this expansion, Ola will be able to cross sell multiple lending products to its large driver partner base; providing them a one-stop destination for all their financial needs,” the company said in a statement.

SoftBank-backed Ola recently invested ₹800 crore in its financial services business. Ola Postpaid, its BNPL offering is available to 40 million customers.

The firm said its vehicle financing business is growing rapidly in conjunction with Ola Electric as well as Ola Cars.

Last year, Ola announced its plan to go public in 2022, and also raised $139 million from investors including Edelweiss, Hero Enterprise and IIFL. In October last year it acquired Pune-based GeoSpoc, a provider of geospatial services.

among various user Ministries/Departments in the context of spectrum needs of emerging technologies/users (5G/IMT) and recommended the spectrum allocation in relevant key bands,” informed the minister.

On 4G services for Bharat Sanchar Nigam Ltd (BSNL), the minister informed it would begin its 4G services this year. The minister said that a “great revolution” has taken place in the telecom sector over the last seven years and that data consumption has soared while tariffs are at the lowest.

‘Govt has plans to auction 5G spectrum in 2022’

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GOVERNMENT has planned to conduct an auction of 5G in 2022, informed the minister of state for communications Devusinh Chauhan in the Rajya Sabha on Friday. The minister said the Department of Telecommunication has allotted 5G spectrums to four Telecom Services Providers (TSPs) to conduct 5G trials in the country.

“Telecom Service Providers (TSPs) are conducting 5G trials in Delhi, Mumbai, Jamnagar, Ahmedabad, Kolkata, Chennai, Hyderabad, Bengaluru, Lucknow, Gurgaon, Gandhinagar, Chandigarh, Pune and Varanasi including urban, semi-urban and rural areas. It is the prerogative of TSPs to launch 5G service in different cities as per their business/network plans,” said the minister.

The minister further mentioned that the Department of Telecom (DoT) has sent a reference to Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) on 13 September 2021, seeking recommendations on auction of spectrum in frequency bands identified for International Mobile Telecommunications (IMT)/5G. The regulatory body is expected to send recommendations to DoT before 31 March 2022.

Once it sends its recommendation, the government will initiate the 5G spectrum auction process.

“A Committee of Secretaries (CoS) including Ministry of Home Affairs, Ministry of Defence, Department of Space, discussed spectrum allocation

EMAMI BUYS DERMICOOOL FOR ₹432 CRORE

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

FMCG major Emami has acquired Dermicool, making it a leader in the prickly heat and cool talc category. The company has acquired the brand from Reckitt for ₹432 crore, excluding taxes & duties. The acquisition has been funded through internal accruals and is subject to customary closing conditions.

“The brand is popular for providing cooling and respite from prickly heat caused during summer season and has high consumer connect,” said Emami in a note to the exchanges. “It commands 20% market share in the high-growth and low penetrated category. Combined with Emami's Navratna Cool Talc, Emami will become leader in this niche category

NEW FORMAT IN PLACE

The event reverts to the 2011 format. Each team will play those in the group and the ones on the exact horizontal side of the other group twice and the rest of the teams once, keeping the number of matches for each team at 14.

QUALITY OF CONTEST

With the tournament having ten teams playing in as many as 74 games, the highest so far, the quality of contest between the franchises is something that needs to be looked at through the course of the league.

ON YOUR MARKS

As the latest edition of the T20 carnival gets underway, a look at some of the key factors to keep an eye on through the course of the tournament....

NINE

Out of the 14 editions, Chennai (four) and Mumbai (five) have won nine between them.

GROUPING

Group A	Group B
MI	CSK
KKR	SRH
RR	RCB
DC	PBKS
LSG	GT

FOUR-VENUE TOURNAMENT

For the third year in a row, the league is restricted to bio-secure environments and limited venues. This year, all the matches will be played across four grounds in Maharashtra — Wankhede, Brabourne, DY Patil, & MCA Stadium, Pune.

Sindhu, Prannoy enter Swiss Open semifinals

PV Sindhu and HS Prannoy stormed into the semifinals of the Swiss Open badminton tournament with straight-game victories in their respective women and men singles events on Friday. Sindhu will meet unseeded Supanida Katethong of Thailand in the semifinals on Saturday.

Boxers Amit & Manish set to return in April

ANMOL GURUNG @Chennai

AFTER being in the back-ground for almost eight months, senior boxers Amit Panghal, Manish Kaushik and Ashish Kumar, who were part of the Tokyo Olympics, are set to return to competitive action next month. The trio have been named alongside 17 other boxers (12 men, 8 women in all) for the Thailand Open Boxing Tournament, an event that is scheduled to be held from April 1 to 10 in Phuket. The trip has been approved by the Sports Authority of India (SAI).

Panghal (52kg) had made a habit of winning and had entered the Olympics as one of the favourites (No 1 seed) from the country to challenge for a medal. But what unfolded was a disaster, to say the least. Panghal, who had received a bye in the opening round, had no answers against his Round of 16 opponent and bowed out with plenty to mull.

Manish's (63kg) run was no different as he also made a tame exit in the first round itself. Ashish had also failed to get past the first hurdle then. Following that miss, the trio had given the nationals a miss and had found themselves down the pecking order due to lack of practice and ranking points. Also, other boxers in their weight categories had upped their game to take their spot.

Having been part of the national camp in Patiala for some time now, the Thailand meet is a big opportunity for them to try and get some positive returns ahead of bigger challenges later this year.

Given that this is an open championship, the Boxing Federation of India (BFI) wanted to give an opportunity to everyone. The event will also witness Ashish in a different weight category. Formerly a 75kg contender, Ashish will be competing in the 81kg category in Phuket.

"The (Olympians) are in top shape now, both physically and mentally. We don't want to dwell on the past. We have made it a point to forget about all the negatives and look ahead. We are striving to give our best during the CWG, Asiad and all the other major competitions in the future," Narendra Rana, India men's national chief coach, told this daily.

In the women's corner, World Championships-bound Manisha Moun (57kg) and Jasmine (60kg) will be participating in the meet. The BFI felt it would be prudent to send the two youngsters ahead of the marquee event, which will be held in May.

ROCKSTAR, SIR, CAPTAIN

All eyes on Jadeja, the skipper, as holders Chennai play IPL opener against Kolkata today

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

IN 2013 as Ravindra Jadeja shouldered his arms to James Pattinson's delivery and lost his off-stump, one could hear giggles ringing aloud at Che-pauk. These were still the early days of Jadeja and the MA Chidambaram Stadium hadn't really seen much of the all-rounder, who had joined the Chennai Super Kings for the 2012 season. In a team that had MS Dhoni, Suresh Raina, Mike Hussey, Dwayne Bravo, R Ashwin, Faf du Plessis, and Doug Bollinger, Jadeja didn't really walk into whistles every time he stepped out to bat.

For a venue that usually welcomes those who wear the yellow jersey with arms spread wide open, there was a bit of reluctance towards Jadeja. It was the period where despite scoring three triple centuries in Ranji Trophy, people were yet to take his batting seriously. Adding to it were the series of tweets from Dhoni, in which the tag "Sir" was prefixed before Jadeja more as a troll quotient than anything. With Thala himself making fun of Jadeja, it was quite natural that the rest of his kingdom joined in too.

But, it was in total contrast to what was going on in the franchise the year before. Ahead of the 2012 auction, Dhoni's wish-list had only one player: Ravindra Jadeja. And the franchise would spend Rs 9.8 crore to acquire his services. Ten years later, here he is as Dhoni's successor. And just like 2013, not everyone is convinced about the Chosen One. There are reasons for it because at no stage of his career has Jadeja captained any side. And despite being part of the national team set up since 2009 and being an all-format regular, the all-rounder has never been part of the leadership group. So, to say that Chennai have punted with Jadeja would be a massive understatement.

As reported by this daily, although Jadeja was formally anointed to the throne only on Thursday, he has been preparing for the role since at least December. For a franchise that puts a lot of emphasis on continuity, that they went with a player who is familiar to their style of operation isn't surprising. And that they have left it to the outgoing captain to decide on the successor too doesn't raise eyebrows as well for everyone knows the sort of authority that Dhoni enjoys at Chennai Super Kings.

But all said and done, this is a major punt that the franchise has taken. Like it was in 2012, there is a perception that Jadeja isn't really a captaincy material. Will he be cool like Dhoni or aggressive, in-your-face like Virat Kohli or astute like Rohit Sharma? Nobody knows it. Because nobody has seen him captain..

"He is someone who is going to give players the space and freedom. He is that sort of player who tries to keep everything simple," R Sridhar, who was the fielding coach of the Indian team from 2014-2021 says. "There is a new found confidence in him, especially the way he has transformed himself as a batter over the last three years is there to see," he added.

There is this trait in Jadeja, where he likes proving others wrong. If everyone wanted him to be dismissed in the 2009 T20 World Cup fixture against England, 10 years later, everyone wanted him to go the distance in the 2019 World Cup semifinals against New Zealand. From being called a bits and pieces player, he has become a genuinely world-class all-rounder who is good enough to keep the best spinner in the team warm the bench in Tests.

From being called a spinner, who can bag wickets only on dust bowls, he has been ranked No 1 Test bowler in the world. As he prepares to lead CSK in the IPL, there are questions if he is the right choice. Over to Jadeja to change the perception.

IPL GC proposes full-fledged women's T20 league from 2023

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE IPL Governing Council has proposed to the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) to explore the possibilities of holding a full-fledged franchise model women's T20 league from 2023. It is understood that a private firm will be given the task to work out the business model as the IPL GC members, which met on Friday, believe the time is ideal to start a new league.

To start with, the BCCI is planning to involve the IPL franchises in discussions to know if they would be interested to be part of the women's league. According to a member who attended the meeting, even if IPL franchises show interest, they too will have to submit a formal bid. At present, at least three IPL franchises have shown interest. A fourth is exploring the market. Once the business model is ready, it is likely to be presented at the AGM in September, where the formalities will be decided.

In the past, Kolkata Knight Riders CEO, Venky Mysore, had revealed the franchise's interest to be involved with women's league. Similarly, couple of franchises too have opened back channel talks with BCCI. "The women's cricket landscape is changing for sure and it is not surprising that IPL teams want to be part. Having established their brands already, having a women's team will add more value to it," a board official said. Full story: newindianexpress.com

@Chennai

EVEN as Anshu Malik (57kg) and Sarita Mor (59kg) made it to the national squad winning finals of their respective weight categories during the selection trials, the Rio Olympic bronze medalist Sakshi Malik failed to qualify despite a depleted field in 62kg. The trials held at the SAI centre in Lucknow sprung no surprise as 10 women wrestlers were picked for the Asian Championships scheduled in Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia from April 19 to 24.

Anshu, who won silver in the 2021 World Championships, faced another Worlds medalist Pooja Dhanda in the final. She was leading 4-0 in the second period when Pooja walked out of the contest after sustaining a knee injury. With Sonam Malik, who had represented the country in the Tokyo Olympics out of trials due to injury, Sakshi had a great opportunity to reclaim her place. However, she lost the final 1-5 against Manisha. Sangeeta Phogat also didn't compete leaving only three wrestlers in the division.

A golden Rolls Royce Phantom taxi has been doing the rounds in Bengaluru in recent times. Owner of the luxury car and businessman Bobby Chemmanur takes CE on this fun ride

SANATH PRASAD

If you've been traversing Bengaluru's traffic in the last couple of weeks, there's no way you would have missed a gold-coated Rolls Royce Phantom taxi doing the rounds in the city. Social media has also been abuzz with selfies of the unusual cab. The person who owns the luxury car is Bobby Chemmanur, businessman and philanthropist, who is now in Bengaluru to expand his jewellery business.

"My driver Devdas had a slightly tiring time when scores of people gathered around the Phantom in the past many days to take selfies," says Chemmanur. We experience this ourselves when we catch up with Chemmanur in Koramangala where curious crowds gather to catch a glimpse of the car. "But the funny part is that I didn't travel in the Phantom when I came to Bengaluru, instead I boarded a train. That's the sort of travel that excites me," says Chemmanur, adding, "I bought it three years ago and wanted every common man to experience a ride. Hence, I converted it into a taxi. I also operate a helicopter taxi. When they experience the ride, I love seeing their joy and smile." Hiring the car comes at a hefty price of ₹7 lakh and needs advance booking.

Chemmanur is the fourth-

generation businessman, but has had his share of troubles. "Just before embarking on my philanthropic journey, I was really fed up with my life. There were things that I felt were not working out and in fact was contemplating ending my life. The turning point was when I read a book on Mother Teresa, which brought my life back on track. A Malayalam book chronicling the works of Mother Teresa shaped my philanthropic journey, where I started off helping destitute children," says the 52-year-old actor.

If you thought five-star hotels or an elegant suit is central to his lifestyle, then you are mistaken. "I have a simple lifestyle and do the things that I like. In fact when I came to Bengaluru 15 years ago, my car broke down and I had to spend the night on the Majestic platform," says Chemmanur, who also enjoys martial arts and shooting.

FRIENDSHIP GOALS

Chemmanur and Diego Maradona shared a close bond. His dream to meet Maradona came true in Dubai in 2010. All he wanted was to take a photograph and shake hands with the football legend. "He hugged me after listening to my stories," says Chemmanur, who is building a museum in Maradona's memory in Kerala.

STRAWBERRY CAPRESE SALAD

INGREDIENTS

- Strawberries: 250-300 g
- Buffalo mozzarella cheese: 50 g
- Walnuts: 2 tbsp, Olive oil: 2 tsp
- Basil leaves: a handful
- Micro greens: A handful (optional)
- Balsamic vinegar: 2 tbsp
- Pepper powder: 1/4 tsp
- Himalayan pink salt: 1/4 tsp

—Sarika Gupta, Thiruvananthapuram (Instagram: @worldfood_onmy_plate)

METHOD

- Chop the larger basil leaves and save the smaller ones for garnish.
- For dressing, reduce the balsamic vinegar on low heat in a small tadka pan. Mix 1 tsp olive oil, pepper and salt.
- Cut the strawberries and mozzarella in chunks or slices.
- Mix strawberries, cheese, basil leaves, micro greens and 1 tsp olive oil.
- Plate the salad. Drizzle the dressing. Garnish with basil leaves, and toasted walnuts.

FIT BIT

NIRAKUNJASANA

(HEART POSE)

This is also called chest-opening yoga posture, which is recommended for its innumerable health benefits. It improves posture, energizes the whole body, relieves tightness in the back and elevates the spirit and mood. It stimulates the Anahata (heart) chakra that develops compassion and promotes goodness in the self, and the Ajna (Third-Eye) Chakra that is connected with the thyroid gland, controls metabolism and oxygen utilization at the cellular level.

STEPS

- Lie down in Advasana on your stomach, forehead on the mat.
- Palms down, extend the arms alongside the ears; legs straight.
- Bend the knees, feet close and toes facing the sky, gently rotating the knees.
- Inhale, slowly release the hands from the floor. Rotate the shoulders to take your arms forward, the palms together facing up in Anjali Mudra.
- Gently put pressure on the chin and chest against the ground.
- Raise your head and slowly bring it back. Pull the belly in and raise your hips. Your palms, head and toes should be in one line.
- Hold this for about 3-4 breaths.
- Don't push the chest and neck.
- Finally, release the pose and relax in Advasana. Repeat the second round and hold it for longer.

BENEFITS

- It opens the shoulders, chest, upper back, lower back, hips, and neck.
- It keeps the glutes, quadriceps, IT band, and sciatic nerve active and well stimulated. This helps to strengthen the lower back.
- Keeps accumulated tensions and stiffness around the neck, shoulders, and upper back away.
- Reduces stress, encouraging a calm and peaceful mind.
- It balances the first five chakras.
- Helps to bring Shthira (stable) in both the body and mind.
- Also helps prepare the spine and hips for deeper challenges.

LIMITATIONS

- Those suffering from any injury to bicep, triceps, abdominal muscles, quadriceps, hamstrings, or issues related to the shoulders, wrists, elbows, neck, spine, collar bone, hips, knees, pelvic joint, rib cage, internal organs, hernia, blood pressure, a migraine, heart problems, arthritis, weak nervous system etc., and pregnant women should avoid this.

INSTANT KARMA

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

LAST week I wrote about the bad luck that seemed to follow the 'Ides of March' without quite realising that some of the misfortune could have rubbed off on me too!

My bff had her young, hot-shot surgeon son slip on a miniscule amount of water and break his right hand. Since he is a paediatric-transplant surgeon, breaking the very hand that sutures tiny organs together is definitely a stroke of ill luck. He lives in the far flung outer arm of our city, next to the fancy hospital he works at, so I immediately asked him to move in with me. I also asked my friend to fly in from Hyderabad so we could look after him after his operation.

The 'March-madness' progressed rapidly. My sister, who recently had a pacemaker installed, fell and broke her shin in three places on Commercial Street. The funny thing was that she was flanked by my niece and her friend, had worn sensible walking shoes and was carrying a walking aid when she fell...when! If she was carrying anymore stuff, she would have needed a private helper! As she realised she had broken her foot, she sat crumpled on the sidewalk and wept tears of frustration as the vendors all brought little religious icons for her to touch for good luck.

She had to be hauled off in a wailing ambulance and when the doctors in Manipal Hospital saw her, they shook their heads in disbelief! "How dare you come back for another operation when the scars of your previous one haven't healed yet," quipped one doctor, trying to make light of the situation. I heard my brave-heart sister howl with pain when they manoeuvred her leg to aid circulation, I heard her joke and use her indomitable spirit to raise our spirits and I knew that I was just plain lucky to have her in my life.

Machiavellian March 'marched' on as I got the mother of colds and then my son decided he was feeling left out and he too was bed-ridden.

Well, sometimes one has to just accept what the universe has in store for you. My sister, now fondly referred to as the Bionic-Woman, could have dislodged the newly-installed electrodes of her pacemaker; she could have broken the already steel-plated right leg (yes! She broke that one too), and both my son and I could have contracted Cardi-V but we didn't. I think good karma has a lot to do with it!

Susan Fernandes, Parul Thakur and Manas Krishnamoorthy

My dinner companions and I didn't waste a minute on any good and bad karma talk as we happily feasted on a superb Japanese meal at Edo, ITC Gardenia. Silence only prevailed when Chef Amit Patra explained his work of art to us. A superlative meal with equally good company...what more could one ask for?

To misquote many parables:

'If I don't go out looking for food, it comes looking for me!' I thoroughly enjoyed eating the maverick restaurateur Zorawar Kalra's latest culinary introduction... gourmet burgers. 'Louis Burgers' are large, succulent and super delicious. I could only manage to eat half!

Says a lot of India keeping abreast of global trends and appetites huh?

AJAYA PRITHVI RASHTRAKUTA MAKES HIS DEBUT AS LEAD IN PURUSHOTHAMANA PRASANGA

Ajaya is excited to collaborate with well-known Tulu director Devadas Kapikad for a family comedy-drama

A SHARADHAA

AJAYA Prithvi Rashtrakuta's passion for acting began when he joined the late AS Murthy's theatre group Vijayanagara Bimba. Trained under the guidance of SV Kashyap, he has been part of 20 regional plays, which he considers as the best education for any newcomer, who quit his law education mid-way to take up an acting course at Toronto Film School. "I was lucky to be trained under Canadian director, Alex Gold Pochin and the biggest achievement was when I got selected through an audition for one of his plays," he says.

Ajaya Prithvi, who now wants to make it big on the silver screen, is set to test waters in tinsel town. His first stint in

A still from the film

Sandalwood is a small role in Anoop Anthony's yet-to-be-released Mehabooba. He has also completed shooting for director Bharath G's Spooky College. Ajaya Prithvi is now all excited to play the lead in the upcoming family comedy-drama titled Pu- rushothamana Prasanga. The family comedy drama is backed by Rashtrakuta Pictures.

The debutant says that the film, which is mostly set in the coastal belt, allowed him to work with a legendary personality like Devdas Kapikad. "It was nice to begin my career with a well-known filmmaker in Mangaluru and famous among the Tulu industry. His son Arjun Kapikad, presently a top-rated Tulu film hero, is co-directing Purushothamana Prasanga. This film will mark their debut in Kannada," says Ajaya Prithvi, who gave an update of the film's shoot. "We are almost through the shooting, and just had some crucial portions shot in Dubai," he says.

The newbie has also signed two more interesting projects. "My third film is Rudresh M Gowda, who is making his debut with a feature film. It is about a youth, who is preparing for his UPS exams. We did a month's workshop, and the project is currently in pre-production. My other project is with director Ambarish, who has helmed films like Kalanthaka and Hope."

SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

RAM CHARAN IS ALL FIRE IN THIS PERIOD FILM THAT RUNS OUT OF STEAM

FIRST things first. SS Rajamouli is a master at transforming the ordinary into extraordinary. He raises the stakes, slows the action, captures the awe of onlookers in a scene... We saw it all in the Baahubali films. This is a rare ability, invaluable in how it maximises the appeal of the big screen experience. Tell him that the scene is of a man climbing a tree, and he will ensure that you are thrilled by the visual of an extraordinary man climbing an extraordinary tree in an extraordinary circumstance. In fact, this idea—of grand scope and scale—is at the heart of RRR, even as two freedom fighters (Komaram Bheem and Rama Raju) are reimagined as larger-than-life personalities (remember the Amarendra statue at Baahubali's interval?). Rajamouli goes one step further in mythologising them by branding them with a natural element (fire for Ram, water for Bheem). This acts as a catalyst for his wonderful imagination with which he thinks up some memorable set-pieces, built on the idea of fire and water. Take that opening bridge rescue, for instance, that forges the friendship of Bheem and Ram. A train is on fire, and where should a hapless boy be stuck but in water... It's almost foretold and is fitting that these two legendary men meet in such a situation. He utilises this water-fire idea again and again in the film, to exhilarating effect. For instance, around the interval mark, Ram arrives in a flaming horse-drawn carriage, and admirably, there's a reason for the fire that goes beyond style and theme—one that takes into account the identity of Bheem as well. These portions stand as examples of this filmmaker's eye for grand set-pieces and his ability to execute what must surely seem like daunting ideas on paper.

In RRR, the two superheroes (let's just call them that), Bheem and Ram, have their respective purposes to achieve—and I liked that while one is a contained objective (rescue a girl!), the other is expansive (arm a population!). Rajamouli treats them both with importance, and perhaps can even be said to be kinder to the girl-abduction story, considering its potential for dramatisation. Weapon acquisition, on the other hand, isn't exactly the most emotional idea out there, and so, he looks to overcome it with a flashback that is unfortunately hurried and cursory. The writing of this film is by Vijayendra Prasad, who we know by now as a lover of mythology. Give him a Ram and Sita, and it's an irresistible temptation to reinterpret the Bheem in this film as Hanuman. Both mythological characters—Hanuman and Bheem—despite being from different eras, are beings of strength, and in this film, NT Rama Rao Jr. infuses his character, Bheem, with even the devotion and naivete of Hanuman. Later, he even admits to his simplicity and is ashamed of it, and goes on to express a type of devotion for Ram. That's why 'Bhaiya' turns to 'Anna'. That's why in one scene, he even invokes Lanka and says that he will reunite Ram and Sita even if the whole place had to be burned down. As for Ram, he is an expert at guns for the most part, but when he grows his hair long and he truly comes into his own, it's like Ram from Ramayana slipped into this universe. It's all Vijayendra Prasad, and it's charming to behold.

I was particularly entranced by Ram Charan's screen presence. A stoic, dutiful policeman for the most part, the actor communicates so much conflict with his eyes. Watch him sink the thorny edges of his whip into Bheem's body, by communicating just the right balance of duty and emotion in his eyes. In dance, in fight, and in steely resolve, this is an arresting performance. And what a tremendous entrance he gets too, as his character takes on an unruly mob all by himself on behalf of the British government. It's perhaps because Ram is shown to possess such steel and grit that it's a tad off-putting to see him suddenly participate in dance battles or play the cheerful friend interested in furthering a friend's romance with a member of the enemy contingent. I kept wondering if he did not have more pressing tasks on hand.

RRR
Cast: Ram Charan, NT Rama Rao Jr., Alia Bhatt, Samuthirakani, Ajay Devgn, Olivia Morris

The compassionate British damsel™ that Bheem falls in love with, is the classic naïve beauty we have seen time and time again—the sort of woman who would be oblivious to events around her, even as she invites hapless victims into her palace and seeks quick forgiveness when they get humiliated or threatened with death. I doubt anything greatly complimentary can be said about the other women in this film either. If you blink a bit, you may miss Shriya Saran. As for Alia Bhatt, she is another docile woman, desperately pining for the return of her beloved—the sort to stand alone and stare into the horizon, waiting for her dream warrior to return. There is, unfortunately, no place for Devdas in this film.

There are bigger problems in RRR though—forgettable villains, for instance. Contrast that with the menace, ambition and physicality of Bhallaladeva in Baahubali. Here, there's the nebulous, bad British empire, of course, but films like these need personifications of evil. And the two we get, Scott and Lady Scott, feel more like caricatures than living, thinking, sinister beings. Their English, thankfully, isn't awful as we have come to expect in our cinema, but they are still under-developed. Lady Scott bays for blood, literally, and as for Scott, he seems strangely obsessed over bullets being wasted. First time around, you get the point, but then, it's rammed in over and over again, including at the very end. It's a bit like how the 'load, aim, fire' line gets milked too.

And where in Baahubali, emotional bonds were forged everywhere (Bhalla-Amarendra rivalry, Amarendra-Devasena romance, Amarendra-Kattappa relationship, Mahendra-Devasena bond... I could go on) and were crucial to pouring emotion and meaning into the spectacular set-pieces, this film lacks emotional strength. Ram's flashback feels quick and uninvited, and without it, the film relies largely on the volatile Bheem-Ram friendship, which, too, gets largely defined by unsurprising montages.

RRR's greatest appeal—as this review began by stating—is in Rajamouli's ability to turn the ordinary into extraordinary, particularly in the stunt setpieces. A single man steps into a ruthless mob and walks out with his catch; another unleashes a whole jungle into a palace; both combine, one sitting on another's shoulders, to launch a memorable offensive and escape in the second half. As a side-note, it's hard not to be slightly alarmed at all the romanticisation of violence around the freedom struggle, especially given the part ahimsa played in our history. In the face of stomping boots and dehumanisation, perhaps violence is instinctive and necessary even, but at a time in our country when violence is increasingly being championed and certain leaders are being methodically cancelled, it's hard not to be at least a bit discomfited by the choice to celebrate, at the end of the film, only those who championed violence.

However, as the three-hour film goes on and the British body count increases, as the arrows pierce and bombs light up the forest, it's hard not to get impatient, searching for meaning and emotion behind all the craft excellence. Yes, Rajamouli thinks up increasingly clever ways to spice up action (arrows being shot with attached grenades, for instance), but it gets harder and harder not to notice that while the stunts engage your senses, the story doesn't, your soul. And yet, this is Rajamouli we are talking about, and so, I couldn't help but fantasise about this filmmaker going on to make our epics. Who knows, perhaps Rama Raju was a dress rehearsal in a sense. As Ram Charan stands among the trees, tall and long-haired, taking aim with his bow, for a fleeting second, it did feel like Ramayana.

SHOKIWALA TO RELEASE ON APRIL 29

CE FEATURES

UCKY'S Shokiwala, starring Ajay Rao and Sanjana Anand, will finally release in theatres this summer. The romantic drama, backed by T R Chandrashekar's Crystal Paark Cinemas, is set to release on April 29.

Shokiwala is set in a rural backdrop. Shokiwala will be Ajay Rao's next after Love You Rachchu. The title is mostly based on Ajay's character as a village youth. The film's shoot is mostly canned in the green belt of Mandya, and Channarayana. It has dialogues by Prasanth Rajappa. Sridhar V Sambraham has scored the film's music, and Shiva Seena is handling the camera work.
